ELECTION PLAN DIES

Demo Committee To Pick Nominee For 8th District

LEESVILLE, La. (AP) — Chairman Jesse Funderburk of the Eighth District Democratic Congressional Committee said Friday night he would call a committee meeting early next week to name a Congressional candidate.

Funderburk's announcement came shortly after Gov. Jimmie Davis refused to call the Board of Liquidation of State Debt into session to put up $95,000 for a referendum, to choose a candidate.

"This would be a perversion of the purpose for which the board was created," Davis said in a statement issued in Baton Rouge.

REFERS TO LAW

"The Eighth District Democratic Committee was elected to oversee matters concerning the party in that district. The law clearly provides that it shall select the nominee to Congress in this case."

"I would suggest to the members of the committee that they follow the law and exercise the powers granted them by the voters who elected them to office."

The vacancy was created by the death on Sept. 5 of former Gov. Earl Kemp Long who defeated Rep. Harold McSwain in the Aug. 27 runoff.

Funderburk, who has always been in favor of committee selection over a straw vote, said he would like to call a committee meeting Saturday to pick the candidate but was unable to do so because of a virus attack.

"I will call a meeting not later than Tuesday," Funderburk said. "All I need is some rest."

Before Davis issued his statement, three more members of the 12-man committee joined Funderburk in opposing a state-paid referendum. Arthur C. Watson of Natchitoches, S. L. Garrett of Winnfield and Maxwell Borden of Marksville said a straw vote would be an impossibility.

In his statement, Davis said: "When this vacancy occurred, the Eighth District Committee announced that it would appoint a nominee in accordance with Act 230 of 1960, rather than hold an election. In an opinion rendered Sept. 7, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion pointed out that the selection of a nominee, according to law, is the responsibility of the committee."

U.S. Indicts Cohen On 7 Tax Counts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mickey Cohen, glib former gambler with four Cadillacs and no obvious income, was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday for income tax evasion and other tax violations involving $378,456.

Cohen, 47, former underworld figure frequently waging a one-man war with authorities, was named in a 13-count indictment charging three counts of personal income tax evasion and one of willfully attempting to evade payment of taxes. Seven counts charged he concealed assets and two others of making false statements.

JUDGE SETS BAIL

The loquacious Cohen was arrested at his plush apartment in West Los Angeles, where he has lived most of the time since his release from federal prison in 1955. Cohen spent 3½ years in jail for income tax evasion.

Federal Judge Peirson Hall fixed bail of $100,000 for Cohen under the current indictment. Maximum penalty upon conviction would be a prison term of 31 years, $95,000 fine, or both.

The indictment charged Cohen, who formerly ran gambling spots in Southern California, owed $347,669 in penalty and interest on

Cuba Expels 2 Americans For 'Spying'

U.S. Secretary. Man In Embassy Ordered Out

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban military police late Friday released an attractive blonde U. S. Embassy secretary they had held 40 hours. The Cuban government accused the woman, Majorie Lennox, of espionage and ordered her expelled from the country along with another embassy employee.

Mrs. Lennox, 26, was reported in good condition. She said she had not been mistreated by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's secret police who invaded her downtown Havana apartment in a postmidnight raid Thursday and held her incommunicado for hours.

RECEIVE NOTE

She said police refused to tell her why she was jailed.

A spokesman said the embassy had received a note from the Cuban government prior to Mrs. Lennox's release accusing her of espionage and saying the charges would be followed up.

The note charged that Mrs. Lennox "along with other embassy personnel engaged in espionage and conspiratorial activities."

It said several other Americans, including at least one embassy employee, have been arrested in connection with the case.

Nixon Tells Of Pay Plan For Farmers

GUTHRIE CENTER, Iowa (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon took aim on the farm belt vote Friday with a four-year "pay more now" plan to cut farm surpluses which would cost up to $1 billion a year.

But he told 25,000 farmers attending the Iowa plowing contest on this rich rolling countryside—as he told a union convention Thursday in St. Louis—his words "may not be all you want to hear."

Nixon made his bid for the farm vote after a crowd-raising motorcade swing from Omaha, Neb., through half a dozen Iowa communities, en route to Des Moines.

The tour saw Nixon deliver one of the most unusual speeches of the campaign in an unscheduled appearance before the children of the Iowa School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs.

He spoke in a slow, careful voice so the children could read his lips and a teacher could translate his words into sign language. "America needs the best of everybody," Nixon told the deaf children. "We want the best you can contribute. . . to make the American dream a reality."

Nixon's reception along the way was enthusiastic and he grinned "crowds like this means we are going to elect Republicans this fall."

The Nixon party ran into a crush of cheering thousands as it neared its hotel in downtown Des Moines.

Nixon's "pay-more - now" proposal—based on the theory that taking the farm surplus "off the back" of both farmers and taxpayers will save money later — was heard out with a few polite

Khrushchev Failure Seen By Kennedy

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, in a dramatic, direct warning to Nikita Khrushchev, warned the Soviet premier Friday night that he will fail if he attempted to meddle in and influence American elections.

Kennedy chose a Democratic fund-raising dinner—1,800 of the Maryland faithful chipped in $100 a plate—to say he wanted to step out of his role as presidential candidate and speak as a private citizen.

MAKES POINTS

"Mr. Khrushchev," Kennedy said, "it has been suggested that your objective is to divide our country in the midst of an election."

"Let me say as emphatically as I can: Those tactics will not work."

And along the line, Kennedy made such points as these:

That the Soviet Union has a record as "the most ruthless colonial power on earth."

That this democracy may have its faults but "it is still capable of reaching greater heights than any you have ever seen or imagined."

"It is still capable of building all the defenses we need, and all the schools and homes and public works—and helping stabilize the non-Communist world at the same time."

Kennedy got a whooping welcome in the big Pikeville Armory just north of Baltimore. It was the windup of a busy day in which he drove through Pennsylvania and was greeted by some of the largest crowds ever to turn out for political speechmaking in that pivotal state.

His speech here was quite a switch from the type Kennedy has been making.

Khrushchev and many other Communist leaders are coming to the United Nations next week, so, Kennedy said, this is a

Ike Completes First Phase Of Annual Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower emerged from a hospital Friday, agreed with doctors that he's "just fine" physically, and promptly headed for the mountains to work on next week's major U. N. speech.

The President left early in the afternoon from Walter Reed Hospital which he had entered Thursday night for the first phase of his annual checkup.

Mrs. Eisenhower had joined him at the hospital for lunch and the couple started at once for Camp David, the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md.

Eisenhower reached Camp David at 4:45 p.m. after detouring to his Gettysburg farm to show the place to a weekend guest, his nephew, Earl Eisenhower.

After an hour at the farm, the President flew by helicopter to Camp David, joining Mrs. Eisenhower who had gone on by automobile.

In weekend seclusion there, Eisenhower is to work on the address he will deliver Sept. 22 before the United Nations in New York. It is expected to be a major statement of U. S. position and presumably will pose a sober challenge to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev who will address the world organization the following day.

'Willing To Go Now'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — (UPI) — America's seven astronauts said Friday they would be "willing to go now" on trips into space—if their rocket and capsule also were ready.

"One of us now expects to make the first flight sometime early next year," said Air Force Capt. Virgil I. Grissom.

The slender, crew-cut astronaut talked to United Press International as he lay on his back in a bell-spaced space flight simulator in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's new Mercury control center, opened to newsmen on the Cape for the first time Friday.

The machine contained models of the maze of switches, buttons, lights and meters the astronauts must learn to handle before going into space. Grissom, wearing a silvery test model of the Mercury space-suit, ran through a mock shot.

The test simulated a short range flight by an astronaut aboard a Redstone missile — the shot Grissom referred to as slated for "sometime early next year."

But the first American astronaut probably will not be fired into an orbit around earth until late 1961. The seven who toured the control center facilities with newsmen Friday seemed resigned to the prospect they might be beaten into space by Russia's "cosmonauts."

Soviet Jet Endangers 36 On Plane

BERLIN (UPI) — The captain of a British airliner said a Soviet jet fighter buzzed his plane and almost crashed into it Friday as he was nearing West Berlin with 36 passengers in defiance of Communist threats to Berlin's air links with the West.

Passengers described the incident as "a near miss." The pilot, Capt. James Martin, filed a protest with the four-power Berlin Air Safety Center as soon as he landed at West Berlin's Tempelhof Airfield.

The plane was on charter to carry passengers into and out of Berlin.

The new Communist harassment came only hours after Mayor Willy Brandt warned the Communists against interfering with air traffic to isolated West Berlin. He said he issued the warning to prevent the East from making a "false estimate" of the political situation.

"It should be recognized that whoever lays their hands on the air traffic to Berlin is playing with fire," he said in a speech in Frankfurt. His speech was believed prompted by Western fears the Soviets were considering harassing action in the three 20-mile wide air corridors across Communist East Germany.

Castro Seizes American Banks

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's government Friday night seized all American banks in Cuba.

The U.S. Embassy was notified that intervenors, apparently from the Cuban National Bank, had begun taking over all branches of the First National City Bank of New York, the First National Bank of Boston and the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Banking sources here estimated reserves and undivided profits of the American banks at $5 million to $6 million with assets and liabilities of many times that amount.

Clearing Skies Forecast Here

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected over Monroe today with continued mild temperatures.

Highest temperature should be from 86 to 90, the weatherman says.

Variable winds from 10 to 20 mph will prevail.

Yesterday's high afternoon temperatures were about 88 degrees. Winds were variable, 8 to 18 mph. Hurricane Ethel was slowly drifting northward near the northern Alabama - Mississippi border late yesterday. It was still producing some fairly potent weather, mostly rain.

Police In N. O. Arrest Officer Of Racial Group

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Police Friday night arrested six Negroes, including a national officer of a racial equality organization, for forming a picket line around a shopping center in protest of "unequal" job opportunities.

Jim McCain, 55, national field secretary for the Congress on Racial Equality, was one of those arrested. His group sponsored a sit-in protest at Woolworth's on the rim of the French Quarter last week. It was the first such demonstration in New Orleans.

The other five men arrested were the spokesmen for the group, Dr. Henry R. Mitchell, 39, two ministers, the Rev. Avery C. Alexander, 50, and the Rev. Louis Landrum, 31; Henry J. Harris, 30, a cleaning firm employee; and Carleton J. Roy, 43, a refrigerator repairman.

A crowd of nearly 300 Negroes had gathered on a nearby traffic island to cheer the demonstrators, who formed the picket line in defiance of a police order to arrest anyone involved in such demonstrations.

DETROIT (UPI)—Haunted by a mountain of debts and huge gambling losses, a suburban couple has disappeared with their two children it was disclosed Friday.

In their haste to flee, William Ritter, 45, and his wife, Edith, left their $30,000 home unlocked, dishes in the sink and food in the refrigerator.

But in an apparent effort to make it difficult to find them, they carefully removed all pictures of the family and took them with them.

They left behind an expensive automobile and a woman's purse containing six pennies.

The couple disappeared Sept. 7 but the case did not come to light until a bankruptcy action against them was filed Thursday.

Before leaving, Mrs. Ritter sent a letter to her attorney, Larry Middleton, in which she

Army Chief Says Arrest Alternative

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu Friday warned Russian and Red Czech diplomats to get out of the country by noon Saturday or he would arrest them and throw them out.

Immediately after receiving the ultimatum, the Czechs, who had ignored previous demands to leave, began burning documents at the embassy.

BLUNT WARNING

Three carloads of Soviet officials left the Soviet Embassy. Other cars loaded with suitcases stood in the courtyard.

"We are all leaving tomorrow," said a correspondent for the Soviet news agency Tass.

Mobutu said bluntly, "If they are not out by noon (7 a.m. EDT) Saturday, he will arrest and expel them. Their diplomatic immunity ends then."

Mobutu followed up the warning with the announcement he was sending troops to surround the embassies which have been headquarters for the swarm of Communist diplomats and "technicians" who flocked to the Congo at the behest of pro-Russian Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The 30-year-old Mobutu at the same time sent soldiers to the official Lumumba residence and arrested 20 of the premier's aides, living up to a vow to arrest the Lumumba men who tried to discredit him Thursday by saying he himself had been arrested.

Lumumba was in a Leopoldville house being guarded by United Nations forces from Ghana. Although Mobutu said Thursday Lumumba was under house arrest, he said Friday he would not arrest the 35-year-old premier if he kept quiet.

Troop reinforcements were summoned by Mobutu's office from other areas of the strife-torn nation "to reinforce my means of action."

U.S. Asks U.N. For Emergency Assembly Meet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States called early Saturday for an emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly to deal with the situation in the Congo.

U.S. Delegates James J. Wadsworth made his proposal in the U.N. Security Council after the Soviet Union vetoed a Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution that would have given Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld a clear go-ahead with his Congo policies.

Wadsworth had accepted the resolution as closely paralleling a U.S. resolution affirming confidence in Hammarskjöld in his battle with the Soviet Union over the carrying out of U.N. operations in the Congo.

The vote on the vetoed resolution was 8-2 with France abstaining. Poland and the Soviet Union, the latter casting its 90th Security Council veto, voted no.

Wadsworth asserted what he called the negative attitude of the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union does not want the United Nations to succeed in the Congo," he said. "It wants to turn that country into a Soviet satellite."

He declared it was essential for the United Nations to take immediate action to provide funds for aid to the Congo, and also to halt subversion of U.N. operations.

Demo Committee To Pick Nominee

the board of liquidation would not be legal. This would not be a legal election. It would, instead, be nothing more than a public opinion poll and the results would not be binding upon the Democratic committee. The committee could accept or reject the results of such a straw vote.

"The Board of Liquidation was given constitutional status during my last term as governor. It was created to provide funds for state agencies caught short of funds during the interim between sessions of the Legislature. It can also appropriate funds during emergencies, which we construe to be disasters and the like."

"It cannot appropriate funds to any group that is not a budget unit of the state. The Eighth District Committee is not a budget unit. Even if these funds were appropriated to the custodian of voting machines or the secretary of state, they would eventually be used for purposes of the committee and the state agency involved would be reduced to a holding agency for the funds."

"Any action on my part to encourage this appropriation would establish a dangerous precedent that could open the doors for raids on the board's funds for other projects that are not legal. This would be a perversion of the purpose for which the board was created."

Previously, Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. had said there was not enough time to hold an election within the law. Grenmillion also said he did not believe an election would meet requirements. He said the committee had the power to select a nominee any way it saw fit—either by picking one itself or conducting a straw vote. Grenmillion, however, thought that the board of liquidation had authority to pay for a special congressional election. Earlier Friday, in an opinion requested by Arthur C. Watson of Natchitoches, vice chairman of the Eighth District committee, the attorney general said it would be the prerogative of the board to determine what particular budget unit to disburse any funds it decided to operate.

He said any funds provided by the liquidation board must be accepted as legal until the courts rule otherwise. The state Constitution, Grenmillion said, requires that all resolutions of the board are to be complied with mandatorily by state officials.

This meant, he said, there was no discretion upon officials of the state to question the validity of any resolutions of the liquidation board.

But the governor, charged with responsibility for calling the board meeting to provide extra funds, refused to call it into session.

Nixon Tells Of Pay Plan For Farmers

interruptions of applause. He got no applause when he attacked Kennedy's farm proposals as a "return to discredited, old programs which have never worked."

Nixon, as he has elsewhere, got his biggest applause when he paid tribute to the Eisenhower administration for "getting us out of one war and keeping us out of other wars."

The GOP presidential nominee's "Operation Consume" plan called for:

—Sharp intensification of the food for peace program.

—Creation of a strategic food storage reserve, storing food for long periods — with fresh replacements as needed — for use in great emergencies such as "an enemy attack."

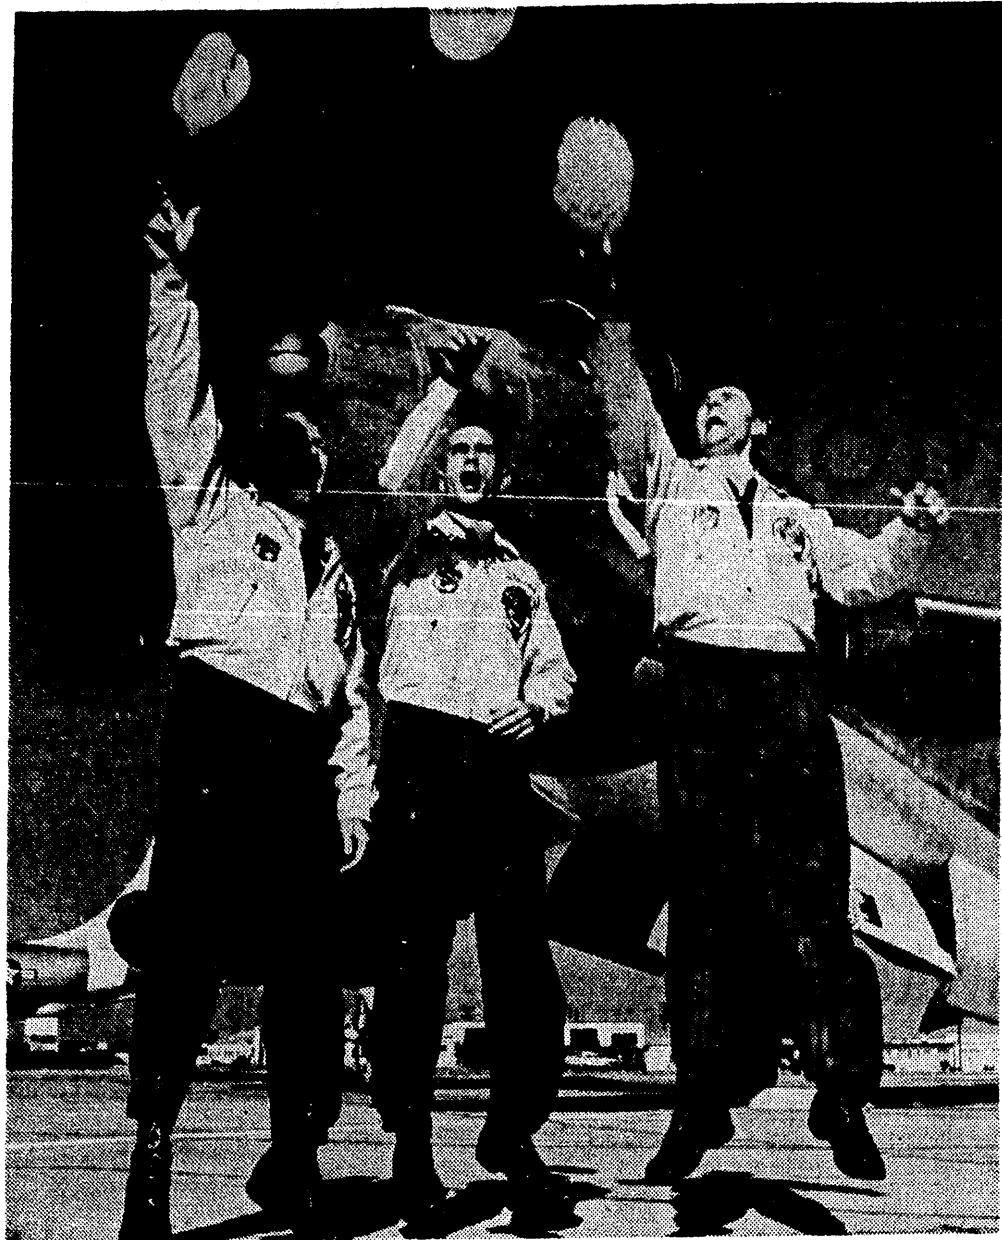

—Payment in kind — barter — from present surpluses as part of a temporary land conservation and retirement program.

—"Urgent exploration" of conversion of grain to protein foods for distribution at home and abroad. Nixon said grain thus could become canned meat and powdered milk and eggs, giving producers of these items added income.

Nixon's conversion proposal was regarded by some farm experts as perhaps the most significant part of his plan.

"Operation Consume" was only the first half of Nixon's carefully-plotted farm program. He promised to outline the second half — called "Operation Safe-guard" — and aimed at avoiding new surpluses — in a speech at the national plowing contest next Friday at Sioux Falls, S.D.

Nixon offered no estimate of the added cost of his farm plan. But an associate figured it as ranging from one half to one billion dollars a year for four years, less any savings from reduction of present surplus storage costs.

a.m. gave birth to a child at 7:30 a.m. and left shortly after.

Dr. Gaharan recalled that the couple paid $50 on their bill and still owed the balance. He also noted that the couple had no diapers, blankets, baby bottles or any other items necessary for care of a baby. He remembered giving the Ford's a hospital sheet in which to wrap the baby. He also noted that the baby was in a healthy condition when the couple left. Evidently it was shortly after June 14 when the Ford's went to California, but the exact date has not been established. When FBI agents picked Ford up on suspicion of a California bank robbery, he was carrying a $1,000 bill and $2,500 in traveler's checks.

Further investigation showed he had $6,000 in a savings account.

Ford was sentenced to five years in the Oklahoma Federal penitentiary in 1946 for car theft.

District attorney Cam Minard stated Friday afternoon that investigation of the baby's death will continue but that no action can be taken in the case until further information can be obtained from California authorities.

Investigate Theft Of Bicycle Wheel

Monroe police are investigating the theft of a rear wheel of a bicycle reported yesterday.

Irvin Pilgreen, of 2501 Gordon Avenue, told authorities that he rode his red bicycle to school and parked it at a store near Ouachita Grammar School yesterday morning.

When he returned at noon to get the bike, the rear wheel was missing.

good time to speak of the things that unite this country rather than those that divide it.

Apparently Kennedy feels that some of the criticism he has been making of the Republican party will be misunderstood by the Soviet leader.

"You may hear us, inquiring into our lost prestige," he said. "Our shaky defenses, our lack of leadership."

"But do not be deceived. The Democratic party is not preaching disunity. Our program is not one that will please you," Kennedy said he doesn't want Mr. K. to get the wrong idea.

"Perhaps you have been misled," he said, "into believing that we are a divided country, or that one side favors appeasement, or that the humiliation of our President"—by Khrushchev in Paris—"would be pleasing to his political opponents."

"Nothing could be further from the truth."

But Kennedy seemed to be worried that maybe the American people may be misled, too.

"Mr. Khrushchev is not a fool," Kennedy said, "and we ought to realize that before he comes. He is shrewd, he is tough, he is vigorous, well-informed and confident."

"And he is not putting on any act when he talks of the inevitable triumph of the Communist

Code Adopted For Motorists

BOSTON (UPI)—The Automobile Legal Association came up Friday with a "Morse Code for Motorists" to enable them to signal another motorist when something is wrong with his car.

After a poll of representative drivers, the ALA suggested this code to be tooted out on the horn:

(.) A light burned out.
(—) Get over in the right lane.
(—) Speed up, slow poke.
(—) Slow down, you're speeding.

The ALA said it had rejected the idea of one long blast for "you jerk," and a series of short beeps for a pretty girl walking along the sidewalk.

pold, where Baluba tribesmen tried to kill Lumumba Thursday. Mobutu proclaimed his ultimatum before newsmen.

The Czechs started a large bonfire in the embassy backyard and smoke poured from the embassy chimney.

Congolese servants seemed to be doing all the work. The Czechs were sitting on a porch sunning themselves and watching the servants bustling back and forth with packages.

Soviet officials were reported to have conferred with Congolese government authorities on Mobutu's demands.

Earlier, the Soviet Embassy had spurned a Mobutu demand to close and get out of the country.

On Mobutu's orders, the parliament was closed and he appeared to be tightening his grip on the government of this near-chaotic land.

Lumumba, hustled from Camp Leopold Thursday where Baluba tribesmen in the Congolese army tried to kill him, appeared to have lost considerable face.

But Mobutu, a former newspaperman, said he had no intention of arresting Lumumba, who used to be a beer salesman, unless Lumumba refused to keep quiet and tried to spellbind street crowds.

lice had rounded up other persons including three Americans, in connection with what was called suspicious movement in the downtown apartment house where Mrs. Lennox lived.

These persons were identified in the note as Eustace Dan Brunet, Edmundo Transke and Daniel L. Carswell.

The note said as the result of an investigation of the activities of these three, Mrs. Lennox and Neet were arrested. Neet was identified only as an embassy employee.

An embassy spokesman said he could not discuss or clarify the charges.

Shortly before Mrs. Lennox was released Cuban authorities said she was being held for "interference in Cuba's internal affairs."

The embassy spokesman said she was taken immediately after her release to the suburban residence of the U. S. ambassador, Philip Bonsal.

"She is resting," the spokesman said. Bonsal told reporters Mrs. Lennox did not want to see anybody.

"It was quite an ordeal," Bonsal said. He said the case had been referred to the State Department in Washington.

Man Arrested On Gambling Charge Here

Monroe police arrested a 62-year-old Negro yesterday afternoon on charges of running a gambling game and keeping a disorderly house.

Released on a $500 bond was Jim Bennett, 615 North 11th St. who was arrested by officers on a warrant.

Monroe chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr. said that the recent conviction of two men on gambling charges in city court led to the swearing out of the warrant against Bennett.

He will be tried in municipal court on Sept. 23.

Scottish Rite Mason Meet Set Tonight

A special dinner meeting of the Northeast Louisiana Scottish Rite will be held tonight at the Frances Hotel with B. J. Higginbotham, which starts at 7 p.m., will be a past grand master of Masons, presided over by Congressman Otto E. Passman, president of the organization. Passman said, "I assure those who will be with us that we will have an excellent program with a prominent and able speaker."

Higginbotham is from Baton Rouge. All Scottish Rite Masons in Northeast Louisiana are urged to attend, Passman emphasized. He said the purposes of the association are to promote the teachings of Scottish Rite Masonry, friendship among all Masons and support the Scottish Rite Supreme Council's educational and Americanism programs. "Now as almost never before Masons should face up to their responsibilities and indicate their interest in the principles and teachings of our great Masonic fraternity," Passman said. Other officers of the association are Robert W. Cretny, vice-president, and M. E. Peikett, secretary, both of Monroe. Dr. Dee A. A. Strickland, also of Monroe, is the sovereign grand inspector general.

Scottish Rite Mason Meet Set Tonight

A special dinner meeting of the Northeast Louisiana Scottish Rite will be held tonight at the Frances Hotel with B. J. Higginbotham, a past grand master of Masons, as principal speaker. Sponsored by the Shreveport bodies of the Order, the meeting, which starts at 7 p.m., will be presided over by Congressman Otto E. Passman, president of the organization. Passman said, "I assure those who will be with us that we will have an excellent program with a prominent and able speaker." Higginbotham is from Baton Rouge. All Scottish Rite Masons in Northeast Louisiana are urged to attend, Passman emphasized. He said the purposes of the association are to promote the teachings of Scottish Rite Masonry, friendship among all Masons and support the Scottish Rite Supreme Council's educational and Americanism programs. "Now as almost never before Masons should face up to their responsibilities and indicate their interest in the principles and teachings of our great Masonic fraternity," Passman said. Other officers of the association are Robert W. Cretny, vice-president, and M. E. Peikett, secretary, both of Monroe. Dr. Dee A. A Strickland, also of Monroe, is the sovereign grand inspector general. CITRONELLE, Ala. (AP)—Two new producing wells were being completed Friday in the Citronelle oil field. They lifted the total for the big North Mobile County field to 251. Jett Drilling Co., Shreveport, La., brought in both. One is located on the northwest flank of the field. Production was from the Rodessa sands from three sets of perforations between 10,637 and 10,963 feet.

New Air Tie-Up Averted

A threatened tie-up of all air traffic in 24 cities served by Southern Airways has been temporarily averted by a decision rendered in Chicago by Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy. The judge's ruling, imposing a temporary injunction, is extremely fortunate for the traveling public and is likely to prove a favor to the Air Line Pilots Association and its members, against which it was issued.

Judge Labuy ruled that no dispute exists between airline petitioners, including Delta, Eastern, Capital, National, Trans-Texas and seven other lines, and the Air Line Pilots Association and that therefore the A.L.P.A. was enjoined from carrying out proposed strikes at all airports in cities now struck against Southern Airways. It is believed likely that the injunction later will be made permanent. This would mean that there will be no interruption of service on the airlines not connected with the strike against Southern.

It was difficult to believe that the A.L.P.A. was serious in its announced intention gradually to shut down scheduled air traffic in all of the 24 cities and yet that is exactly what the organization seemed bent on doing and, in all probability, would have done if the court had not intervened.

The A.L.P.A.'s purpose, it said, was to support the strike now in progress against Southern Airways. Its members proposed not to fly into any picketed airport. Baton Rouge, La., and Huntsville and Dothan, Ala., were first cities on the strike list, with the time scheduled for September 15. New Orleans, Atlanta and Memphis were scheduled to be struck on October 6.

A.L.P.A. members should be thankful that the court stopped its scheduled strike timetable, because the organization was in serious danger of losing all public respect. Now its proposed secondary boycotting has been stopped, and it can say it attempted to carry out the "duty" imposed upon it by the union but was stopped by federal court order.

Punishing the traveling public, the communities on the Southern Airways routes, and other scheduled airlines because of a dispute between one airline and its pilots would be a thoroughly unfair undertaking on the part of the A.L.P.A.

Furthermore such a step might have resulted in shutdowns of the airlines not concerned in the strike while Southern Airways continued its flights, since Southern has already employed new pilots and is operating all its flights despite the strike which was started some two months ago. This would have set up an ironic situation and one which would have brought the A.L.P.A. into strong dispute.

Pilots have rights, airlines have rights and the traveling public has rights, which transcend all others. This is particularly true in matters involving transportation disputes.

The moved threatened by the A.L.P.A. would have resulted in a major air transportation dislocation which the public would have resented and which the nation could not have afforded.

So great an injury to the public interest would, in the final analysis, do great harm to those who instigated it—the pilots. The damage to themselves from a public prestige standpoint would have been irreparable.

The pilots should be grateful to the court for issuing the injunction and should hope, along with the airlines and the public, that the injunction will be made permanent.

Big Teacher Pool

Retired army officers, retired businessmen and heretofore non-teaching mothers who have finished raising their children are envisioned as a vast new pool of teachers which is calculated to ease the teacher shortage for many years to come.

With teachers working only nine months a year, as a rule, and having comparatively short work weeks, there are thousands upon thousands of qualified persons who have retired in other fields who are ready and eager to take up teaching duties. The military services and many businesses provide for early retirement and those who retire frequently are ready for a good many years of additional work.

The three-pronged program to place mothers, retired businessmen and retired army officers in the teaching profession will be backed by the Ford Foundation for the Advancement of Education.

The department of defense, which plans to use the Retired Professors Registry, reports some 24,000 soon-to-be retired officers are ready and willing to take up teaching careers.

Under the guidance of Dr. J. Whitney Bunting, the General Electric company has worked out a plan for retiring employees with the Ford-supported Retired Professors Registry. The firm has found that more than half of its qualified employees are interested in early retirement (with pension privileges) in order to teach.

One of the phases of the registry project will be to put older married women with liberal arts education into teaching. A special program for this purpose, including a year of formal training, then a master of arts in teaching, plus practice teaching in cooperating schools will be offered at Converse College, Spartanburg, S. C.

In another part of the program, housewives with college training will be hired to read and correct English compositions. This aspect of the plan was developed by Dr. Paul Diederich of the educational testing service in Princeton, N. J., as part of the Rutgers University blueprint to reorganize teaching.

As a result, students will be able to receive a corrected weekly assignment, whereas previously they were able only to submit four inadequate papers a year. The system is expected to develop more literate graduates and better teachers by unburdening them.

Since teacher's pay has been brought up to an excellent level and since their working conditions are good, there is every likelihood that the shortage of good teachers will soon disappear, despite the fact that the number of students is mounting rapidly.

One thing that seems to be overlooked in the fact that such a large percentage of the population is now going on to complete college is that, with an extra year or so of training, this huge new aggregation of college graduates will be ready to go into teaching.

When the pay is high and working conditions attractive, no profession will suffer a shortage any great length of time, as long as we have free enterprise and free opportunity.

Votes Of Senior Citizens

Important To Politicians, Particularly Like Florida And California, Where There Are So Many Of Them

The oldsters, for whom the term senior citizen has been invented, have voted. They are important to the politicians, particularly in states like Florida and California where there are many of them. The youngsters have no votes. They cannot organize pressure groups.

I was therefore more than usually interested in a monograph written by Professor Margaret Mead of Columbia University, prepared for the Golden Anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth.

It is questionable whether the child in our society gets a fair chance. His parents are only too often too busy, too preoccupied to do much for the child; guilty the parent, at perhaps the wrong time, seeks to become a pal of the child, when the strong hand rather than a palsy-walsy attitude is needed. Then many children have to stay at school long beyond their capacity and patience. Of this, Professor Mead writes:

"... The increased insistence upon the attendance of all young people at high school has resulted in a high school population which is extremely heterogeneous in character, including those who are capable of higher education and those who are actively impatient and incapable of profiting by education at the moment. In this latter group are boys who are chafing to become independent, and girls whose attention is focused primarily upon mating."

It is, in fact, this latter group who become our maladjusted juveniles because they live in enforced idleness to satisfy parental pride. Some get by because of athletics but the high school does nothing for them intellectually or vocationally. They are graduated for no good reason and hold a grudge against the world because of their own inadequacies. Professor Mead further writes:

"... The junior high school has become a forcing ground for inappropriate and socially maladjusted attitudes in both boys and girls, laying the basis for hostility to females on the boys' part and, on the girls' part, grasping pressure toward marriage combined with contempt for males. Although these deficiencies of the junior high school are widely recognized, the attractiveness of using new junior high schools as a quick solution to the population pressures on the school system makes it probable that the evils of the junior high school will increase rather than decrease during the next decade."

Makeshift education has less value than no schooling whatsoever. Nothing rubs off in school; the stuff that people are taught must be rubbed in and rubbed in hard. The young person, male or female, who spends two to four years of acute boredom, must go wrong.

Some do manage to find a college that will admit them. There are all sorts of colleges in the United States, ranging from the Ivy League group, which are hard to get into, to colleges that are easy to get into and where a student can spend four years taking easy courses or devoting himself to the gaieties of a long vacation. The parent who assumes that all American colleges as educational institutions is doing the child an injustice. Some are just places to spend time and to come out of with untrained minds and a B.A. degree such as one would get at a top-notch university. Of this, Professor Margaret Mead writes:

"The image of the successful American has come to include the requirement of some post-high school special training. Models for this image are both those young people who acquire conspicuous and recognized forms of higher education... and also those hundreds of thousands who obtain educations which are seen as symbolically the same — a college degree is a college degree wherever and whenever obtained — yet at the same time intrinsically different and inferior. These models become important for the some one-third of America's high school students who are capable of higher education but fail to pursue it."

In our present struggle for brains, for intellectual leadership, all this matters greatly. In the 19th century when we were building railroads and factories, the man who knew how to earn and accumulate money for himself was regarded as an heroic character but today, the scientist, the researcher, the government official, the educator become enormously significant. The requirement of the time is for persons with expert skills, enormous knowledge and brilliant imagination. The mathematician is essential to our society. A society such as ours cannot afford to permit schools to be places to pass the time.

X-Ray Machines

Fluoroscopic And Other Apparatus Is Checked For Safety

Lately I have not been receiving so many letters from people who are "afraid of x-rays." I guess the knowledge is gradually filtering through that we doctors have become quite aware of the potential dangers of x-rays and fluoroscopic examinations.

For this reason we are rechecking our X-ray apparatus, protecting patients and ourselves from excessive radiation, and using X-ray diagnosis only when necessary.

Rather than become unnecessarily anxious about X-rays, I tell people to be thankful for this remarkable discovery by Roentgen in 1895.

Consider, for example, what was said recently by Professor Henry K. Taylor, M.D., of New York University - Bellevue Medical Center: "If tonight some global catastrophe wiped out all diagnostic X-ray machines, tomorrow morning the medical profession would find itself in the nineteenth century."

"A large portion of today's magnificent heart operations would cease. Early cancer in the digestive tract would remain hidden, and new tuberculosis lesions in the lungs would go undetected. With no exact information to guide them, surgeons would be forced to perform thousands of unnecessary operations. A great deal of medical diagnosis would be little better than educated guesswork. In a hundred other respects, results would be catastrophic."

"BLOOD THINNERS"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband has just come down with an attack of coronary thrombosis. Our doctor, who gives blood thinners like dicumarol to most of his coronary patients, refuses to use it in my husband's case. He says it's dangerous to use it in a patient who also has a stomach ulcer. What is your opinion? Sincerely, Mrs. W., Miami, Florida.

ANSWER: Doctors in various areas of the United States differ in their use of anticoagulants (blood thinners). In some cities, at least 80 per cent of physicians will use this medicine routinely; in others, only 25 to 50 per cent rely upon drugs like heparin and the dicumarol family to help their coronary patients. (Incidentally, these drugs are also being used in the management of thrombosis of veins and in cases of cerebral vascular disease like cerebral thrombosis.)

There has been quite a bit of statistics on the subject recently, bearing on the experience with these anticoagulants over the past few years. I would say that most doctors agree that they are very useful.

In fact, some investigators say that their use cuts down the mortality during the first six weeks of the coronary attack by at least 50 per cent. Which you will agree is quite a bit of life-saving. Studies also show that these blood thinners lessen chances of complications like embolism; and that if taken for months and years lessen the likelihood of another attack of coronary thrombosis.

I thought you would like to know this, Mrs. W., before I answer your direct question about your husband's case. In spite of all the potential good from the use of these drugs, I believe your doctor is using excellent judgment in withholding them from your husband. For we know that there are few contraindications to its use.

Ulcer is one of the most important; because taking the drug may produce severe hemorrhage (which is a serious complication at any time — especially during an attack of coronary thrombosis).

These drugs should also be withheld from patients with cerebral hemorrhage, diseases of the blood, marked weakness in the function of liver or kidneys — and in certain other conditions whose names you will not recognize.

Air Evac Safe

Enviably Record Of No Fatalities Not Due To Luck Alone

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Three times, on a round-trip between New Jersey and California to write this story, our litter-laden Air Evacuation plane staggered down the runway and failed to take off. Engines were cut to prevent a probable crash which would have killed eight or ten servicemen who were ill enough to be bedridden, two or more registered nurse officers, a couple of medical technicians, an expert air crew and yours truly.

Air Evac has an enviable record of non-fatalities, and it isn't just luck. The training, skill and devotion of these people who fly and service the planes are the reasons. But in this day the "deterrent" philosophy — peace by mutual terror, is Churchill's definition — the nuts and bolts which hold airplanes together are being sacrificed to put the funds elsewhere. So in replacement of horse and buggy planes. So is research into development, which is vital to every phase of the Air Age.

Last May the Secretary of the Air Force, Dudley Sharp, was on an official mission to Southeast Asia. At Hong Kong the engine of his 12-year-old Constellation developed trouble. It was necessary to replace a part. No Constellation part was available because all the major airlines in the Orient (except MATS, our official carrier) were converted to jets. An engine exhaust stack had to be flown all the way from Washington, D. C., to Hong Kong — by commercial airliner. Earlier in 1960 another Pentagon official was on an obsolete Constellation which lost an engine at Bangkok in Thailand. A new engine had to be flown from Tokyo.

Examples of lost time, endangered lives and expensive patch-up work are plentiful. MATS is the one service which — literally — has to function at combat efficiency in peace and war alike. This summer we have had the Congo, and the figures are staggering: 834 trips, 8,456 passengers, 3,664 tons of lift, 13,440 flying hours, a peak of 60 Globemasters working out of the 14 different nations. And before the Congo there were MATS missions such as an earthquake disaster in Chile, a flood in Brazil, fighter planes to Formosa, troops to Lebanon, missiles to Britain, pilgrims to Mecca, food and coal to Berlin.

But those who have fought for MATS feel encouraged. The word is getting around. In the 86th Congress the President asked $50 million for MATS modernization. Congress raised it to $250 million. The Department of Defense is spending the money wisely. Meanwhile, MATS has a fiery new Commander in Chief, General Joe Kelly who reeled off most of this story for me. There is talk of turning the yet-unbuilt supersonic B-70 bomber into a transport plane at three times the speed of sound.

If it could be done within the next administration, we would have a military airlift of fewer but faster planes, with faster reaction time, greater efficiency and increased world-wide prestige.

It's probably too strong a word, but a Democratic campaign researcher tells me that the States "hate" the Federal Government. It is not a matter of rivalry, because it has gone past that. But it is a matter of competent observation that people are developing a deep animosity toward the taxeating, all-pervasive, increasingly powerful Colossus of the Potomac.

The remedy would be to limit further encroachment by the Federal Government. On almost the last day of Congress, there was such a move by Congressman Laurence Curtis of Massachusetts. His bill (H. R. 13269) was a reaction to an order by the House anti-trust subcommittee which demanded that the New York Port Authority produce certain records. Three Authority officers, upon advice of Governors Rockefeller and Meyer of the affected States, refused — and were cited for contempt of Congress. The Curtis bill, which relates to a similar agency, the New England Interstate Water Pollution Commission, would establish a new format under which Congress grants two or more states the right to form an interstate agency. The pertinent language reads that nothing in the law "shall be construed to confer on the U. S. any right to investigate or regulate any act performed under this compact." Leave that to the State legislatures!

Democratic Candidate Kennedy is compiling answers in 50 States to this three-part questionnaire: "What are the issues in your State? What has Eisenhower done wrong? What should be done about it?" He aims to please!

Daily Devotional

For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. — Timothy 1:7.

The person who is eternally afraid is, in all probability not at peace with his Maker. The encouraging lyrics of the hymn, "I walk and I talk with the King!" could well be the inspiration of every true Christian — for God is an ever-present Personality to those who seek Him and elect to follow His leadership and do His will. Such followers can place their burdens upon Him. Even in these troubled times, Christians should have the spiritual stamina to be unafraid.

God, our Father, help us to seek the shelter and the comfort of Thy Word and to claim the promises of Thy Son. In His name we pray. Amen.

In another part of the program, housewives with college training will be hired to read and correct English compositions. This aspect of the plan was developed by Dr. Paul Diederich of the educational testing service in Princeton, N. J., as part of the Rutgers University blueprint to reorganize teaching.

As a result, students will be able to receive a corrected weekly assignment, whereas previously they were able only to submit four inadequate papers a year. The system is expected to develop more literate graduates and better teachers by unburdening them.

Since teacher's pay has been brought up to an excellent level and since their working conditions are good, there is every likelihood that the shortage of good teachers will soon disappear, despite the fact that the number of students is mounting rapidly.

One thing that seems to be overlooked in the fact that such a large percentage of the population is now going on to complete college is that, with an extra year or so of training, this huge new aggregation of college graduates will be ready to go into teaching.

When the pay is high and working conditions attractive, no profession will suffer a shortage any great length of time, as long as we have free enterprise and free opportunity.

Votes Of Senior Citizens

Important To Politicians, Particularly Like Florida And California, Where There Are So Many Of Them

The oldsters, for whom the term senior citizen has been invented, have voted. They are important to the politicians, particularly in states like Florida and California where there are many of them. The youngsters have no votes. They cannot organize pressure groups.

I was therefore more than usually interested in a monograph written by Professor Margaret Mead of Columbia University, prepared for the Golden Anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth.

It is questionable whether the child in our society gets a fair chance. His parents are only too often too busy, too preoccupied to do much for the child; guilty the parent, at perhaps the wrong time, seeks to become a pal of the child, when the strong hand rather than a palsy-walsy attitude is needed. Then many children have to stay at school long beyond their capacity and patience. Of this, Professor Mead writes:

"The increased insistence upon the attendance of all young people at high school has resulted in a high school population which is extremely heterogeneous in character, including those who are capable of higher education and those who are actively impatient and incapable of profiting by education at the moment. In this latter group are boys who are chafing to become independent, and girls whose attention is focused primarily upon mating."

It is, in fact, this latter group who become our maladjusted juveniles because they live in enforced idleness to satisfy parental pride. Some get by because of athletics but the high school does nothing for them intellectually or vocationally. They are graduated for no good reason and hold a grudge against the world because of their own inadequacies. Professor Mead further writes:

"The junior high school has become a forcing ground for inappropriate and socially maladjusted attitudes in both boys and girls, laying the basis for hostility to females on the boys' part and, on the girls' part, grasping pressure toward marriage combined with contempt for males. Although these deficiencies of the junior high school are widely recognized, the attractiveness of using new junior high schools as a quick solution to the population pressures on the school system makes it probable that the evils of the junior high school will increase rather than decrease during the next decade."

Makeshift education has less value than no schooling whatsoever. Nothing rubs off in a school; the stuff that people are taught must be rubbed in and rubbed in hard. The young person, male or female, who spends two to four years of acute boredom, must go wrong.

Some do manage to find a college that will admit them. There are all sorts of colleges in the United States, ranging from the Ivy League group, which are hard to get into, to colleges that are easy to get into and where a student can spend four years taking easy courses and devoting himself to the gaieties of a long vacation. The parent who assumes that all American colleges are educational institutions is doing the child an injustice. Some are just places to spend time and to come out of with untrained minds and a B.A. degree such as one would get at a top-notch university. Of this, Professor Margaret Mead writes:

"The image of the successful American has come to include the requirement of some post-high school special training. Models for this image are both those young people who acquire conspicuous and recognized forms of higher education . . . and also those hundreds of thousands who obtain educations which are seen as symbolically the same — a college degree is a college degree wherever and whenever obtained — yet at the same time intrinsically different and inferior. These models become important for the one-third of America's high school students who are capable of higher education but fail to pursue it."

In our present struggle for brains, for intellectual leadership, all this matters greatly. In the 19th century when we were building railroads and factories, the man who knew how to earn and accumulate money for himself was regarded as an heroic character but today, the scientist, the researcher, the government official, the educator become enormously significant. The requirement of the time is for persons with expert skills, enormous knowledge and brilliant imagination. The mathematician is essential to our society. A society such as ours cannot afford to permit schools to be places to pass the time.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN X-Ray Machines

Fluoroscopic And Other Apparatus Is Checked For Safety

Lately I have not been receiving so many letters from people who are "afraid of x-rays." I guess the knowledge is gradually filtering through that we doctors have become quite aware of the potential dangers of x-rays and fluoroscopic examinations.

For this reason we are rechecking our X-ray apparatus, protecting patients and ourselves from excessive radiation, and using X-ray diagnosis only when necessary.

Rather than become unnecessarily anxious about x-rays, I tell people to be thankful for this remarkable discovery by Roentgen in 1895.

Consider, for example, what was said recently by Professor Henry K. Taylor, M.D., of New York University - Bellevue Medical Center: "If tonight some global catastrophe wiped out all diagnostic x-ray machines, tomorrow morning the medical profession would find itself in the nineteenth century."

"A large portion of today's magnificent heart operations would cease. Early cancer in the digestive tract would remain hidden, and new tuberculosis lesions in the lungs would go undetected. With no exact information to guide them, surgeons would be forced to perform thousands of unnecessary operations. A great deal of medical diagnosis would be little better than educated guesswork. In a hundred other respects, results would be catastrophic."

"BLOOD THINNERS"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband has just come down with an attack of coronary thrombosis. Our doctor, who gives blood thinners like dicumarol, refuses to use it in my husband's case. He says it's dangerous to use it in a patient who also has a stomach ulcer. What is your opinion? Sincerely, Mrs. W. Miami, Florida.

ANSWER: Doctors in various areas of the United States differ in their use of anticoagulants (blood thinners). In some cities, at least 80 per cent of physicians will use this medicine routinely; in others, only 25 to 50 per cent in others, only 25 to 50 per cent rely upon drugs like heparin and the dicumarol family to help their coronary patients. (Incidentally, these drugs are also being used in the management of thrombosis in veins and in cases of cerebral vascular disease like cerebral thrombosis).

There has been quite a bit of statistics on the subject recently, bearing on the experience with these anticoagulants over the past few years. I would say that most doctors agree that they are very useful.

In fact, some investigators say that their use cuts down the mortality during the first six weeks of the coronary attack by at least 50 per cent. Which you will agree is quite a bit of life-saving. Studies also show that these blood thinners lessen chances of complications like embolism; and that if taken for months and years lessen the likelihood of another attack of coronary thrombosis.

I thought you would like to know this, Mrs. W., before I answer your direct question about your husband's case. In spite of all the potential good from the use of these drugs, I believe your doctor is using excellent judgment in withholding them from your husband. For we know that there are a few contraindications to its use.

Ulcer is one of the most important; because taking the drug may produce severe hemorrhage (which is a serious complication at any time — especially during an attack of coronary thrombosis).

These drugs should also be withheld from patients with cerebral hemorrhage, diseases of the blood, marked weakness in the function of liver or kidneys — and in certain other conditions whose names you will not recognize.

Air Evac Safe

Enviably Record Of No Fatalities Not
Due To Luck Alone

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Three times, on a round-trip between New Jersey and California to write this story, our litter-laden Air Evacuation plane failed to take off. Engines were out to prevent a probable crash which would have killed eight or ten service men who were ill enough to be bedridden, two or more registered nurse officers, a couple of medical technicians, an expert air crew and yours truly.

Air Evac has an enviable record of non-fatalities, and it isn't just luck. The training, skill and devotion of these people who fly and service the planes are the reasons. But in this day of "deterrent" philosophy — peace by mutual terror, is Churchill's definition — the nuts and bolts which hold airplanes together are being sacrificed to put the funds elsewhere. So in replacement of horse and buggy planes. So is research — in development, which is vital to every phase of the Air Age.

Last May the Secretary of the Air Force, Dudley Sharp, was on an official mission to Southeast Asia. At Hong Kong the engine of his 12-year-old Constellation developed trouble. It was necessary to replace a part. No Constellation part was available because all the major airlines in the Orient (except MATS, our official carrier) were converted to jets. An engine exhaust stack had to be flown all the way from Washington, D. C., to Hong Kong — by commercial airliner. Earlier in 1960 another Constellation was lost on an engine at Bangkok in Thailand. A new engine had to be flown from Tokyo.

Examples of lost time, endangered lives and expensive patch-up work are plentiful. MATS is the one service which — literally — has to function at combat efficiency in peace and war alike. The summer we have had the Congo, and the figures are staggering: 834 trips, 8,456 passengers, 3,664 tons of lift, 13,440 flying hours, a peak of 60 Globemasters working out of the 14 different nations. And before the Congo there were MATS missions such as: an earthquake disaster in Chile, a flood in Brazil, fight Lebanon, missiles to Britain, pilgrims to Mecca, food and coal to Berlin.

But those who have fought for MATS feel encouraged. The word is getting around. In the 86th Congress the President asked $50 million for MATS modernization. Congress raised it to $250 million. The Department of Defense is spending the money wisely. Meanwhile, MATS has a fiery new Commander in Chief, General Joe Kelly who reeled off most of this story for me. There is talk of turning the yet-unbuilt supersonic B-70 bomber into a transport plane at three times the speed of sound.

If it could be done within the next administration, we would have a military airlift of fewer but faster planes, with faster reaction time, greater efficiency and increased world-wide prestige.

It's probably too strong a word, but a Democratic campaign researcher tells me that the States "hate" the Federal Government. It is not a matter of rivalry, because it has gone past that. But it is a matter of competent observation that people are developing a definite animosity toward the tax-eating, all-pervasive, increasingly powerful Colossus of the Potomac.

The remedy would be to limit further encroachment by the Federal Government. On almost the last day of Congress, there was such a move by Congressman Laurence Curtis of Massachusetts. His bill (H. R. 13269) was a re-act to an order by the House anti-trust subcommittee which demanded that the New York Port Authority produce certain records. Three Authority officers, upon advice of Governors Rockefeller and Meyer of the affected States, refused — and were cited for contempt of Congress. The Curtis bill, which relates to a similar agency, the New England Interstate Water Pollution Commission, would establish a new format under which Congress grants two or more states the right to form an interstate agency. The pertinent language reads that nothing in the law "shall be construed to confer on the U. S. any right to investigate or regulate any act performed under this compact." Leave that to the State legislatures!

Democratic Candidate Kennedy is compiling answers in 50 States to this three-part questionnaire: "What are the issues in your State? What has Eisenhower done wrong? What should be done about it?" He aims to please!

Daily Devotional

For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. — Timothy 1:7.

The person who is eternally afraid is, in all probability not at peace with his Maker. The encouraging lyrics of the old hymn, "I walk and I talk with the King!" could well be the inspiration of every true Christian — for God is an ever-present Father to those who seek Him and elect to follow His leadership and do His will. Such followers can place their burdens upon Him. Even in these troubled times, Christians should have the spiritual stamina to be unafraid.

God, our Father, help us to seek the shelter and the comfort of Thy Word and to claim the promises of Thy Son. In His name we pray. Amen.

Hugh Balfour Assumes Post In Fund Drive

Hugh Balfour has been named the 1960 campaign chairman for the United Givers Fund in West Monroe and has presided at the West Monroe section's organizational meeting this week.

Balfour, chief engineer of the northeast division of Louisiana Power and Light Company, has a long record of community service.

He is a past president of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, president of the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, and superintendent of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church.

He is also a member of the board of directors of the Ward Five Hospital District which is constructing a new hospital in West Monroe.

Serving as co-chairman with Balfour are Harold Hill, the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, Mack Owens, and Roy Brooks.

This marks the second year West Monroe has conducted its own campaign for the Ouachita Parish United Givers Fund.

Some 13 agencies in the parish will receive assistance from the UGF. The 1960 goal is $244,000.

Parents' Day At College Is Scheduled

Today is Parents' Day at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Before the first full week of classwork begins Monday, the college has invited parents of its students to visit the campus for a round of activities. The second annual Parents' Day officially gets under way at 3 p.m. with an open house.

Parents will also have an opportunity to visit points of interest on the campus, to attend the Northeast - Arkansas State Football game as guests of the college, to eat in Northeast's new cafeteria and to attend a post game dance.

The open house is scheduled from 4-5 p.m. in the Student Center to give parents a chance to mingle with students, faculty, staff and other parents. Refreshments will be served. Parents are also invited to visit dormitories and other points of interest.

From 5-7 p.m. parents may register in the Student Center. Registration will enable them to obtain tickets to the Northeast game, which begins at 8 p.m. in Brown Stadium. From 5-7 p.m. Northeast's new cafeteria will be open for students and their parents.

The parents are also invited to a postgame dance in the Student Center from 10:30 p.m. to midnight.

Sweet Potato Crop Is Short

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Pearce Friday warned Louisiana faces a short sweet potato crop this year.

The federal government has estimated this year's Louisiana crop at 325,000 pounds, or 180,000, 000 pounds below last year's.

The 1960 crop got off to a late start, with plantings delayed by dry weather.

Harvesting in August was slowed by excessive moisture.

Normally, Pearce said, Louisiana produces more than a fourth of the nation's sweet potato crop.

Negro Charged On DWI Count

Monroe police arrested a 39-year-old Negro yesterday charging him with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

The man was identified as Eddie Thomas, 3504 Thomas St. He was arrested on a warrant.

His bond was set at $400 and he will face trial in municipal court.

Man Who Fled Jail In Trash Can Due Back

Dan Robertson, who escaped the Ouachita Parish jail in a trash can carried out by prison trustees, was expected to be back in Monroe last night.

Robertson, who fled the jail Aug. 7, was apprehended in Sacramento, Calif. by the FBI on Aug. 14.

The Sheriff's Department here said that two deputies left with Robertson yesterday enroute to Monroe.

Robertson, 29, is charged with the gun-point holdup of a Monroe store.

Robertson was turned over to local authorities after extradition papers were signed by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

State Civitan Meet Set Today At Natchitoches

Louisiana Civitans will meet today at 2 p.m. in Natchitoches for a quarterly council which State Civitan Governor Jimmie M. Herren of West Monroe described as a new type council meeting.

Its purpose, Herren said, is to "further the growth of civitan in Louisiana through education."

Separate courses will be held for club secretaries, club presidents and lieutenant governors, he added.

Among those attending from West Monroe are H. J. Lane, W. R. Babb, Robert Berry, H. P. Collier, Lt. Gov. Kenneth Garrison, Lt. Gov. Curley Ketchell, and James Traylor, secretary and treasurer of the Louisiana District.

Others are planning to attend, Herren said, and he expects a large attendance at the meeting.

William Decker from the Civitan International office in Birmingham, Ala., will address the council as the principal speaker.

Street Project Surveys Finished In West Monroe

West Monroe officials yesterday announced the completions of ground surveys for the city's several street improvement projects and said they hoped that bids will be advertised by late October.

Assessments will be levied, City Attorney John McCormick said, after bids have been advertised and accepted and contracts let.

Residents will have a choice of paying cash for the street work or buying 10-year highway certificates, he said.

However, it will be spring before much actual work can be done on the streets, McCormick added, due to legal waiting periods between steps in the projects.

Man Charged On Three Theft Counts Here

The Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department is holding a 22-year-old West Monroe man who has been charged with three different counts of theft by check.

Jerry D. Wall, of 314 Main St., was arrested earlier on the first such charge and was being held in the parish jail on a $100 bond.

Sheriff's Department officials said that yesterday, two more warrants charging theft by check were sworn out against him by local merchants.

The latter thefts amounted to $10 each, totaling $20 worth of theft. He is being held on a $500 bond on each of the last two counts, making his total bond come to $1100.

Brown Rites Slated Today

Final rites are scheduled at 4 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church in West Monroe for John W. Brown Sr., 67, who died at his home at 409 North Sixth St. early yesterday morning.

The Rev. Jaroy Weber will officiate at the services, with burial in Hasley Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn's Funeral Home.

A native of Mississippi, Mr. Brown had lived in West Monroe for some 75 years.

Palbearers will be R. C. Redding, Tommy Morris, Webb Goodlett, T. J. Young, J. F. Jones Jr. and E. R. Williams.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church in West Monroe, and was the owner and operator of a garage.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Brown, West Monroe; four daughters, Mrs. Ruth Green Tallulah; Miss Doris Brown and Mrs. Shirley Hamilton, both of West Monroe, and Mrs. Dixie Stout, Baton Rouge; three sons, John W. Brown Jr., Raleigh, N. C., and Jack Brown and Joe Brown, both of West Monroe; four sisters; three brothers, and 13 grandchildren.

Hugh Balfour Assumes Post In Fund Drive

Hugh Balfour has been named the 1960 campaign chairman for the United Givers Fund in West Monroe and has presided at the West Monroe section's organizational meeting this week.

Balfour, chief engineer of the northeast division of Louisiana Power and Light Company, has a long record of community service.

He is a past president of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, president of the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, and superintendent of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church.

He is also a member of the board of directors of the Ward Five Hospital District which is constructing a new hospital in West Monroe.

Serving as co-chairman with Balfour are Harold Hill, the Rev. A. T. Mitchell, Mack Owens, and Roy Brooks.

This marks the second year West Monroe has conducted its own campaign for the Ouachita Parish United Givers Fund.

Some 13 agencies in the parish will receive assistance from the UGF. The 1960 goal is $244,000.

Parents' Day At College Is Scheduled

Today is Parents' Day at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Before the first full week of classwork begins Monday, the college has invited parents of its students to visit the campus for a round of activities. The second annual Parents' Day officially gets under way at 3 p.m. with an open house.

Parents will also have an opportunity to visit points of interest on the campus, to attend the Northeast - Arkansas State Football game as guests of the college, to eat in Northeast's new cafeteria and to attend a post game dance.

The open house is scheduled from 3-5 p.m. in the Student Center to give parents a chance to mingle with students, faculty, staff and other parents. Refreshments will be served. Parents are also invited to visit dormitories and other points of interest.

From 3-7 p.m. parents may register in the Student Center. Registration will enable them to obtain tickets to the Northeast game, which begins at 8 p.m. in Brown Stadium. From 5-7 p.m. Northeast's new cafeteria will be open for students and their parents.

The parents are also invited to a postgame dance in the Student Center from 10:30 p.m. to midnight.

Sweet Potato Crop Is Short

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Pearce Friday warned Louisiana faces a short sweet potato crop this year.

The federal government has estimated this year's Louisiana crop at 325,000,000 pounds, or 180,000,000 pounds below last year's.

The 1960 crop got off to a late start, with plantings delayed by dry weather.

Harvesting in August was slowed by excessive moisture.

Normally, Pearce said, Louisiana produces more than a fourth of the nation's sweet potato crop.

Negro Charged On DWI Count

Monroe police arrested a 39-year-old Negro yesterday charging him with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

The man was identified as Eddie Thomas, 3504 Thomas St. He was arrested on a warrant.

His bond was set at $400 and he will face trial in municipal court.

Man Who Fled Jail In Trash Can Due Back

Dan Robertson, who escaped the Ouachita Parish jail in a trash can carried out by prison trustees, was expected to be back in Monroe last night.

Robertson, who fled the jail Aug. 7, was apprehended in Sacramento, Calif. by the FBI on Aug. 14.

The Sheriff's Department here said that two deputies left with Robertson yesterday enroute to Monroe.

Robertson, 29, is charged with the gun-point holdup of a Monroe store.

Robertson was turned over to local authorities after extradition papers were signed by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

State Civitan Meet Set Today At Natchitoches

Louisiana Civitans will meet today at 2 p.m. in Natchitoches for a quarterly council which State Civitan Governor Jimmie M. Herren of West Monroe described as a new type council meeting.

Its purpose, Herren said, is to "further the growth of civitan in Louisiana through education."

Separate courses will be held for club secretaries, club presidents and lieutenant governors, he added.

Among those attending from West Monroe are H. J. Lane, W. R. Babb, Robert Berry, H. P. Collier, Lt. Gov. Kenneth Garrison, Lt. Gov. Curley Ketchell, and James Traylor, secretary and treasurer of the Louisiana District.

Others are planning to attend, Herren said, and he expects a large attendance at the meeting.

William Decker from the Civitan International office in Birmingham, Ala., will address the council as the principal speaker.

Street Project Surveys Finished In West Monroe

West Monroe officials yesterday announced the completions of ground surveys for the city's several street improvement projects and said they hoped that bids will be advertised by late October.

Assessments will be levied, City Attorney John McCormick said, after bids have been advertised and accepted and contracts let.

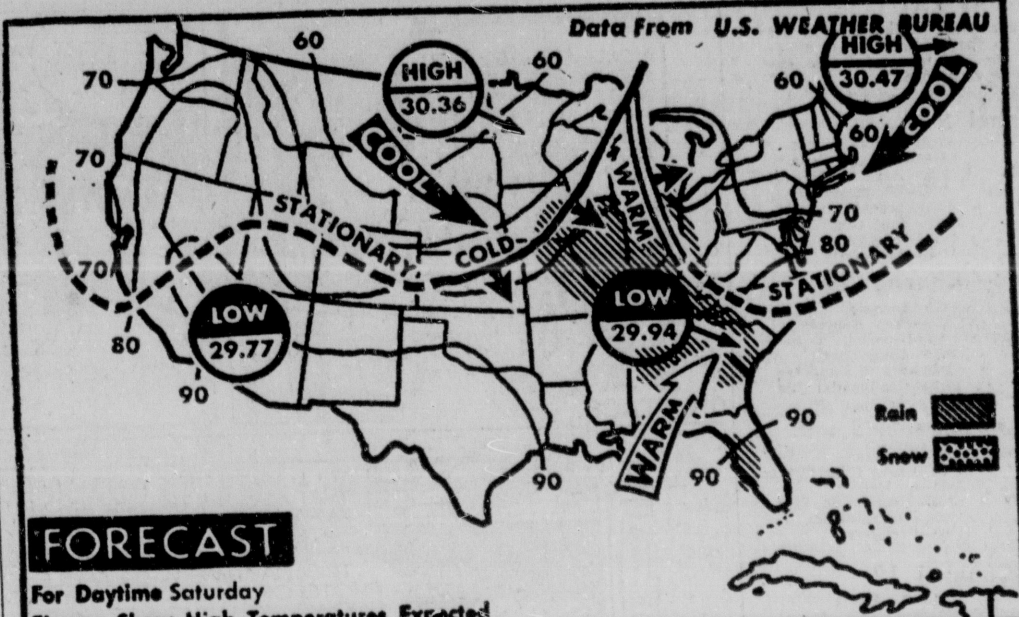

Residents will have a choice of paying cash for the street work or buying 10-year highway certificates, he said.

However, it will be spring before much actual work can be done on the streets, McCormick added, due to legal waiting periods between steps in the projects.

HURRICANE ETHEL advisory from the New Orleans weather bureau:

A weak Ethel was located near the Mississippi - Alabama border a little south of Meridian Mississippi at 10 am est. Several stations reported heavy rains with Merrill, Miss., reporting about 5 inches during the night.

Locally heavy rains of 5 to 10 inches are expected near and to the east of the center as it continues northward along the Mississippi - Alabama border with most heavy rain in northern and west central Alabama today and tonight.

A few squalls with winds around 25 mph are occurring along the extreme northwest Florida coast and small craft there should not venture into the open gulf until squalls subside later today.

Interests should watch for possible flood warnings from local weather bureau offices.

amounts, particularly near the storm center as it progressed northward over the southeast Mississippi coast.

Near 3 inches was collected at Merrill, Miss., and 6 1/2 at Frisco City, Ala., with in 12 hours while Pensacola in extreme northwest Florida had around 6 inches. As though still weakening, as Ethel continues to drift northward the threat of heavy rains persists for areas adjacent to the path of the center.

Elsewhere, light rain fell in the upper Mississippi Valley in association with a nearly stationary frontal system and rain mixed with scattered showers and an occasional thunderstorm in the vicinity of a cold front pushing southeastward into the upper plains.

Shower activity began to develop over the central Rockies and thundershowers in advance of an area of low pressure in northeast Texas. Noteworthy weather activity was at a minimum through remaining sections of the country.

Cool Canadian air pressing down into the northeast and northwest brought midday temperatures in the 50's and 60's from the Great Lakes Region eastward and from the Pacific northwest to North Dakota. Meanwhile warm 90's appeared in Florida, Texas and the arid regions of southern California and Arizona. Readings in the 70's and 80's predominated elsewhere.

During the night scattered frost is likely in the North Atlantic states and also Montana and northwest North Dakota. For today little change in the weather picture is anticipated except for light rain through the Ohio Valley into Michigan and cooler temperatures from the upper Mississippi Valley southwestward into the central Rockies. Scattered light snows are forecast for higher mountain elevations of Wyoming and northern Colorado.

The weather bureau 30 day outlook for the period mid September to mid October calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the continental divide eastward to the Appalachians with greatest departures over the southern plains and lower Mississippi Valley.

Above normal temperatures are indicated west of the continental divide and near normal east of the Appalachians. Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the eastern half to the nation but subnormal amounts are predicted west of the continental divide.

In remaining area near normal amounts are indicated.

Some temperature extremes from within the 48 adjacent states.

Friday morning low, 19 at Fraser, Colo., and 23 at Big Piney, Wyoming.

Friday high, 196 at Presidio, Texas, and 105 at Imperial, Calif.

Vichy, Mo., reports 1.57 inches of rain in 6 hours yesterday.

Delayed U. S. South pole station for 15th, high; minus 6; low 7. Minus 90.

Scattered light snows are forecast for higher mountain elevations of Wyoming and northern Colorado.

The weather bureau 30 day outlook for the period mid September to mid October calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals from the continental divide eastward to the Appalachians with greatest departures over the southern plains and lower Mississippi Valley.

Above normal temperatures are indicated west of the continental divide and near normal east of the Appalachians. Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the eastern half to the nation but subnormal amounts are predicted west of the continental divide.

In remaining area near normal amounts are indicated.

Some temperature extremes from within the 48 adjacent states.

Friday morning low, 19 at Fraser, Colo., and 23 at Big Piney, Wyoming.

Friday high, 196 at Presidio, Texas, and 105 at Imperial, Calif.

Vichy, Mo., reports 1.57 inches of rain in 6 hours yesterday.

Delayed U. S. South pole station for 15th, high; minus 6; low 7. Minus 90.

Around noon the remnants of Ethel were located along the mid Alabama - Mississippi line moving slowly northward at about 7 miles per hour, throwing an extensive cloud and rain shield over southeastern parts of the country.

Rain spread from the central and northeast gulf coasts northeastward into South Carolina and the southern Appalachians with some places receiving locally heavy amounts, particularly near the storm center as it progressed northward over the southeast Mississippi coast.

Near 3 inches was collected at Merrill, Miss., and 6 1/2 at Frisco City, Ala., with in 12 hours while Pensacola in extreme northwest Florida had around 6 inches. As though still weakening, as Ethel continues to drift northward the threat of heavy rains persists for areas adjacent to the path of the center.

Elsewhere, light rain fell in the upper Mississippi Valley in association with a nearly stationary frontal system and rain mixed with scattered showers and an occasional thunderstorm in the vicinity of a cold front pushing southeastward into the upper plains.

Shower activity began to develop over the central Rockies and thundershowers in advance of an area of low pressure in northeast Texas. Noteworthy weather activity was at a minimum through remaining sections of the country.

Cool Canadian air pressing down into the northeast and northwest brought midday temperatures in the 50's and 60's from the Great Lakes Region eastward and from the Pacific northwest to North Dakota. Meanwhile warm 90's appeared in Florida, Texas and the arid regions of southern California and Arizona. Readings in the 70's and 80's predominated elsewhere.

During the night scattered frost is likely in the North Atlantic states and also Montana and northwest North Dakota. For today little change in the weather picture is anticipated except for light rain through the Ohio Valley into Michigan and cooler temperatures from the upper Mississippi Valley southwestward into the central Rockies. Subversive Ties Linked To Defector

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Francis E. Walter said Friday that one of the two code clerks who defected to Russia belonged to a subversive group "at some time or another."

He declined to say which man it was or to name the organization on the grounds it would hamper further investigation.

Walter did say, however, that the organization was on the Attorney General's list of subversive groups.

The Pennsylvania Democrat made the announcement after the House Committee on Un-American Activities, of which he is chairman, held closed hearings on the case of defectors Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin.

Both the committee on Un-American Activities and the House Armed Services subcommittee held hearings Friday on the two men, who worked for the Defense Department's National Security Agency (NSA).

The armed services subcommittee questioned Army, Navy and Air Force intelligence chiefs before recessing its inquiry until Monday.

Walter's committee interviewed J. Vincent Burke Jr., Defense Department general counsel; Dr. Louis W. Tordella, NSA deputy director, and Murray Snyder, assistant defense secretary.

After Walter said the Defense Department had refused to furnish the committee with complete personnel files on the two men, although it had been asked to do so.

Walter described the security agency's hiring procedures as "very sloppy," and said he was sure its pre-employment investigations "were not as thorough as they ought to be."

$1.4 Million Swindle Is Confessed

LONDON (UPI) — The happiest crook in the world Friday might be juke box king Eddie Pizzezy, admitted swindler of $1.4 million, who only has "six months to live."

Pizzezy, a 238-pound cigar-smoking ex-sailor with lots of self-confidence, arrived here Thursday after a final filing in Switzerland in which he said he managed to spend $16,800 in three weeks—"none of it mine."

The first thing he did was telephone police and confess.

"Come get me—shotgun Pizzezy, the biggest and best crook in the country," he boasted. "I've swindled four finance companies out of 500,000 pounds ($1.4 million) and I plan to pay them back at a shilling (14 cents) a week."

Detective - inspector Reginald Catchpole said an investigation is under way into Pizzezy's juke box rental agency and that a fraud squad "will no doubt" visit him when it is ready.

Pizzezy, meanwhile, explained to reporters Friday his reasons for giving up.

"Well boys," he said, "I vowed to my late wife that I'd go straight before my time on earth was up. And it looks like this is it."

"I don't care what happens to me now. The doctors tell me I've only got six months to live."

Pizzezy said he was told he had a chance if he gave up his heavy drinking but explained that he just couldn't do it.

"I like it too much, he said, "I drink about two bottles of whisky a day."

He pictured himself as a modern day Robin Hood who robbed from the rich to give to himself.

"I'm a crook, but I never robbed the little man," he said. "The finance companies are to blame for what has happened. They lent me half a million when they knew I was a crook and on probation."

Syria-Jordan Roads Closed

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The United Arab Republic's army closed all highways between Syria and Jordan from 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. effective Friday and until further notice.

An army statement banned entry into Syria from Jordan and vice versa within the restricted hours. The army warned it will not be responsible for the consequences in event of violation of these orders.

There was no immediate explanation.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

MEDICAL BROWSING

The next time you have a shiner (from running into a door, of course) ask your physician about the enzyme tablets recommended by the International Boxing association. Streptokinase and streptodornase are combined into an oral product to promote rapid healing of various types of bruises and abrasions.

These enzymes digest the blood under the skin, doing a few hours what would take Nature a week. They also act on pus and other debris. As a result, these enzyme products are used also in surgery, skin grafting, emphysema, ulcers, burns, and many other conditions to accelerate healing.

The body louse has joined the house fly in developing resistance to DDT. Typhus fever is transmitted by the louse and in time could become a serious threat in areas where the disease is prevalent.

Food of animal origin supplies most of the dietary protein in prosperous nations. In this respect, steak, lamb chops and roast beef are signs of prosperity and plenty. In contrast, vegetable proteins are used in areas where there is little or no animal husbandry. Staple foods of this type include such products as cereals, starchy roots, ground nuts, and soybean and other beans. Some of these foods are extremely rich in protein.

But as the demand for nutrient increases, the number of animals kept for meat diminishes. When this takes place, animal products assume the role of condiments rather than food. They add to the taste but the amount of meat in each serving is too small to be of nutritional significance. This may explain the greater use of stews, chop suey, and sauces in south and east Asia.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TRACHOMA

F. E. S. writes: Is granulated eyelids caused by a germ?

REPLY

Trachoma is an infectious disease caused by a filtrable virus. This disorder was prevalent in the U. S. A. at the turn of the century but improvements in our standard of living, sanitation, and hygienic conditions have helped eradicate it. A new vaccine is available and should prove a boon in countries where trachoma is common.

BORN WITH A CAUL

R. S. M. writes: If a baby is born with a veil over his face is this a sign he will die young?

REPLY

No. This is one of the oldest of old wives' tales. The "veil" is a small piece of the bag of waters, which just happens to adhere to the face of the baby. There is nothing magic or mysterious about it, nor does it predict a long or short, rich or poor life.

VARICOSE VEINS

Mrs. M. S. writes: Are varicose veins hereditary?

REPLY

Heredity plays a role because varicose veins occur so frequently in the same family. In all probability, the individual inherits his veins with weak walls. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on varicose veins.

SINGER'S TENSION

P. S. B. writes: What causes the throat to tighten up after singing a short time?

REPLY

Tension is the most common cause of stage fright. Today's Health Hint—Don't let the cold reality of personal inadequacy get you down.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Doubting Thomases may scoff, but friends of May Britt and Sammy Davis Jr. have received engraved invitations for the wedding on Oct. 16th. The formal bids were sent out by May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Hugo Wilkens. The big Johansson-Patterson return match, which has been jockeyed from city to city in the announcements, is supposed to be set for Los Angeles, but Miami Beach is making a try that may change the picture. Lucille Ball struck a dramatic blow for equal rights when she challenged the management of her apartment in the swank East sixties because her children's nurse, a Negroess, wasn't permitted to ride in the front elevator with the little girl and boy. After Lucy made her Emancipation Proclamation, the situation was hurriedly changed. Barney was badly each other these days. Broadwayites wonder if the meetings have anything to do with Paramount's pay-as-you-see TV system. A cryptic but possibly significant comment from a friend of Arthur Miller: "Well, it lasted longer than any hit play."

William Inge, signed by MGM to write the screen adaptation of James Leo Herlihy's exciting novel "All Fall Down," shares that Warren Beatty would be perfect for the role of Berry-berry, the book's leading character. Playwright Inge was greatly impressed with Warren's dramatic talent in "Loss of Roses." Duet at the Harwyn: Ethel Merman and actor Joe Sirola of the daytime TV serials. The area between 110 and 160th streets in Manhattan is referred to by narcotics men as "The horse district." They estimate that 15,000 addicts live or congregate there. The Broadway play "The Hero" going into production soon, is stuck for a leading man. The producers are looking for "a young Donald O'Connor."

Actress Plans Divorce

PARIS (AP) — Danish actress Annette Stryberg said Friday her marriage to film director Roger Vadim is finished and they will be divorced. She told reporters their reconciliation trip to Tahiti was a failure. Vadim, first husband of Brigitte Bardot, and Miss Stryberg were married June 17, 1958. They have a daughter.

Soviet In Rough Seas

LONDON (AP) — Rougher weather hit Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's ship Baltika Friday as she headed into the last 1,000 miles of the voyage to New York. Moscow radio reported the sunny weather changed overnight. "Though it is still warm, the sky is overcast and there has been occasional rain. The sea is somewhat rougher," the broadcast said.

DRAG RACERS WARNED

Youth Faces Jail Term After School

Seventeen-year-old Albert Fullerton has a 90-day jail sentence to serve next year because a judge didn't want to prevent the teenager from graduating from high school.

Judge David I. Garrett sentenced Fullerton, of 3500 Grammont St., to 90 days in the Ouachita Parish jail Friday for drag racing.

But he postponed the date that Fullerton will begin the sentence until next July 15. And he pledged that it would be cut to 30 days if the youth shows good behavior while in jail.

Garrett also warned that drag racers will receive no leniency in Fourth District Court.

He cited the Christmas Day, 1957, death of a local businessman — who died of injuries received when his station wagon was hit by a drag racing youth just south of Monroe. This death was unnecessary, Garrett stressed.

Fullerton was arrested on July 1, and charged with reckless driving on the Swartz Road.

On the same date, on the opposite side of town, three young men were arrested, two on charges of simple obstruction of the highway and one on a reckless driving charge.

Robert L. Gambino, 22, 3308 Polk St. and Bobby G. Hill, 23, Route 3, Box 305 West Monroe, pled guilty Friday to the obstruction charge.

Charles Henry Tillman, 19, 1112 S. Fourth St., Monroe, denied charges of reckless driving and driving with an improper muffler.

Tillman will be tried Nov. 18 on the reckless driving charge — a charge of drag racing. Gambino and Hill will be sentenced after that trial. They admitted that they were parked on the Prairie Road south of Monroe, side by side, blocking the highway. Only one vehicle had lights on.

Sixty-seven other persons were listed on Friday's court docket, in the first Friday misdemeanor day since last July 8.

Willie Joe Smith, 40, Negro, no address given, pled guilty to burglarizing Violner's Cafe, 1904 1/2 DeSiard St. Wednesday. He was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Clarence Jackson, 17, Negro, Route 3, Box 258B West Monroe, pled innocent to a charge of theft of fender skirts valued at $28.

Bennie Bell Green, 19, Negro, 300 Pink St., West Monroe, charged with Jackson, pled guilty and was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Samuel Ross, Negro, 18, 406 S. Seventh St., denied the simple burglary of Lela McClain's residence, 704 South 12 St. on Aug. 31.

Lonnie Cross, 36, who gave his address as Murrelle's Rooming House on Sixth Street, pled innocent to a charge of theft of $150 from C. O. Brantley, Route 2, Marion.

Leon Jones, 33, of Bastrop, denied a charge of theft of $145.

Trials for two men charged with second offense, driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, was continued.

John R. White III, 33, Box 2672, is due to be tried Oct. 28. Trial for Sam W. Hightower, 27, 1403 Milton St., was continued without date.

Trial will continue Monday in the case of Vincent Balsamo, alias Frank Balsamo, 21, Selman Field Apts. He is charged with simple battery. The case was partly tried yesterday.

Bessie Greer, 35, Negress, 104 1/2 S. Fifth St., West Monroe, pled guilty to a charge of aggravated battery. She will be sentenced following an investigation.

Bond was called on H. P. Weeks, Box 321, Jonesboro, when he failed to appear in Court. He is charged with two counts of theft: $143.40 and $41.

Driver's license was revoked for Charlie W. Hembree, 81 1001 Cypress St., West Monroe, when Garrett learned that Hembree is totally deaf. The West Monroyan also drew a $25 fine on a reckless driving charge.

Delane Caldwell, 22, Star City, Ark., denied theft of 13 gallons of gasoline worth $3.90. He will be tried next Friday.

M. H. Frith, 49, Box 62, West Monroe, denied theft of $1.50 and will be tried Oct. 28.

Doyle Duncan, 21, 203 Mississippi St., drew a $25 fine or 10 days in jail on a charge of simple battery. A. V. Ellis, 27, 200 Pershing Dr., charged with Duncan, drew the same fine.

Thelma Coley and Labe Brown, Negroes, Route 1, Box 42, Bonita, pled guilty to removing chattel mortgaged property out of the parish and were remanded for sentencing.

Thirteen others were charged with first offense, driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, and one man was charged as a second offender.

Thomas Ray Broadnax, 37, Negro, 203 1/2 N. Congo St., fined $300 or 60 days.

Lloyd C. Canterbury, 41, Box 157 Simsboro, fined $300 or 60 days.

Durrell Lyle Dixon, 25, Box 95, Dunn, trial set Oct. 14.

John H. Martin, 41, 412 Pine St., West Monroe, charged as a second offender, trial Nov. 18.

Eddie Lee Smith, 43, Negro, 538 Pierce St., Bastrop, tried, found guilty, fined $350 or 60 days. He also was found guilty of resisting an officer and fined $200 or 60 days and 90 days compulsory jail.

Raymond F. Howell, 47, 1414 College Ave., was fined $300 or 60 days after he pled guilty. He also drew a $50 fine or 15 days on a charge of driving with improper lights. A charge of resisting an officer was dismissed.

Napoleon Butler, 50, Negro, 418 Dunbar, Ruston, also was charged with negligent injuring, trials continued without date.

Isaac Auther alias Auther Evans, 32, Negro, 912 Calypso St., also charged with driving without a license, trials continued to Oct. 28.

Lenron Stovall, 19, Negro, 4100 Curry St., was called on bond.

Dennis Lee Johnson, 35, Negro, 510 North 10 St., was tried, then fined $300 or 60 days. He also was tried on a charge of driving with a chauffeur's license (after the license was revoked) and was fined $50 or 15 days plus 10 days suspended sentence.

DRAG RACERS WARNED

Youth Faces Jail Term After School

Seventeen-year-old Albert Fullerton has a 90-day jail sentence to serve — next year — because a judge didn't want to prevent the teenager from graduating from high school.

Judge David I. Garrett sentenced Fullerton, of 3500 Grammont St., to 90 days in the Ouachita Parish jail Friday for drag racing.

But he postponed the date that Fullerton will begin the sentence until next July 15. And he pledged that it would be cut to 30 days if the youth shows good behavior while in jail.

Garrett also warned that drag racers will receive no leniency in Fourth District Court.

He cited the Christmas Day, 1957 death of a local businessman — who died of injuries received when his station wagon was hit by a drag racing youth just south of Monroe. This death was unnecessary, Garrett stressed.

Fullerton was arrested on July 1, and charged with reckless driving on the Swartz Road.

On the same date, on the opposite side of town, three young men were arrested, two on charges of simple obstruction of the highway and one on a reckless driving charge.

Robert L. Gambino, 22, 3508 Polk St. and Bobby G. Hill, 23, Route 3, Box 305 West Monroe.

Arkansas State Invades Tonight

Northeast and Arkansas State — two sets of Indians who found the warpath pickings pretty slim last fall — open the 1960 college football season tonight at Brown Stadium.

Kickoff time is 8 o'clock. Both Northeast and Arkansas State, playing its first year under King Block, former backfield mentor, are expecting better things this year. Jack Rowan's Northeast club won only two games and Arkansas State three last year, one a 15-0 blanking of the season opener.

The local Indians will pin their hopes on a big starting line, one that outweighs Arkansas State's starting forwards over 15 pounds per man, and a new quarterback. Despite the return of only 12 lettermen from last year's club and an influx of transfers, Northeast's first team line will contain no new faces. Left end Larry Giambelluca (200) and center Bill

McGraw (215) are the only regular linemen who weren't with the club last year and both were lettermen in 1958.

Rowan was yesterday undecided on one tackle starter. Ross Nolan, the ex - Neville all - star who has grown into a fair - sized boy of 235 pounds is favoring a pulled muscle. If he doesn't round into shape by game time, Luther French (205) will start. The other French starters, like French and Nolan, are old hands, end Charles Barnes (220), tackle Delmas Thorne (195), and guards Billy Foster (220) and Perry Beaver (220).

Other Indians with minor aches and pains are Gene Harbert (injured knee), Terry Brunet (injured foot), Don Watrugh (injured knee) and Thorne (pulled muscle). All are expected to see action this evening.

The new quarterback is Pete Vincent, a 160 - pound transfer from Mississippi's Sunflower (now Delta) Junior College. In fact, all of the Tribe quarterbacks are

Shaw's 89-Yard Dash Bags 12-8 Win For Carroll

Carroll High of Monroe, a leading contender for the state Negro triple - A championship, downed Langston High of Hot Springs, Ark., 12-8, here last night.

Halfback Winston Hill hustled Langston to the first touchdown with a 20 - yard pass catch. Fullback Willie Todd ran for the two points.

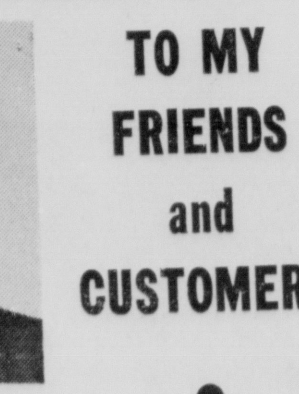

Halfback Minster Williams made Carroll's first touchdown from the two.

Bulldogs were behind 8-0 until late in the third period when right guard Samuel Shaw picked off a Langston pass on his own 11 and returned 89 yards for a TD.

Tigers Pick Over Texas A&M Eleven

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Texas A&M and Louisiana State may rely mainly on defenses Saturday night as their almost untied quarterbacks lead football teams in a season opener.

The kickoff is 8 p.m. in the LSU stadium. Fair and warm weather is expected to greet some 55-60,000 fans.

Louisiana State, for the past two years a top defensive team, is a two-touchdown favorite. Coach Paul Dietzel appears to operate on the theory that they can't beat you if they can't cross your goal line.

He picked 22 men for his first two squads based on defense ability, and 11 more for offense based on ability to attack.

Coach Jim Myers of the Texas Aggies has shifted to his first team an ace kicker in Randy Sims in a move that may be designed to keep LSU at a distance. The Aggie halfback set a Southwest Conference record last season by kicking a 51-yard field goal.

But Dietzel has a terrific kicker in Wendell Harris, the halfback who dropped into the position left vacant by LSU's most recent sports memory, Billy Cannon.

Harris made good his first five field goal attempts last season. He also kicked eight extra points for a season total off the boot of 22.

Myers probably will start 185-pound Powell Berry at quarterback. Berry understudied Charlie Milstead last year. He completed three of seven passes for 46 yards and had a 2.6-yard rushing average.

Either sophomore Jimmy Field or senior Darryl Jenkins will signal LSU. Field (170) was a halfback on the freshman team two years ago and was red-shirted last year.

Jenkins (185) for two years has been an outstanding defensive back. He has little experience on offense. The quarterback problem remained a worry to Dietzel.

Chiti Homer Puts Damper On White Sox

DETROIT (AP)—Harry Chiti's eighth inning home run gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory over Chicago Friday night and dealt the White Sox' pennant chances a damaging blow.

Chiti's blast came off a reliever Gerry Staley and broke a 3-3 tie.

West Monroe Rebs Hand Woodlawn 44-0 Setback

By JERRY HARKNESS

West Monroe's Rebels booming back from a season opening loss to Neville last week, handed Woodlawn High of Shreveport a rugged initiation into the ranks of Louisiana prep football with a 44-0 runaway over the Knights at Reb Stadium last night.

Left halfback Buck Fox scored three times to lead the Reb's hard - running offense while end Richard Jones and tackle Tommy Averett anchored tough defense.

The Knights could only master two good drives during the entire game and never got the ball across the midfield stripes during the first half.

After a clipping penalty had nullified a 20 - yard touchdown run by Charles Van Zile in the opening minutes, Fox began to show his stuff, hauling in a Knight punt with 4:45 remaining in the first quarter and breaking through a trap on his own 40-yard-line to travel 60 yards for the first score. Covington added the PAT to put the Rebs ahead, 7-0.

Fox scored again before the quarter ended on a double reverse by Billy Doerner, blasting 15 yards for the score. Another double reverse broke Fox loose for a score from 19 yards out but the play was again called back on a clipping penalty.

Doerner cracked through the line from the 20 and boughed two defenders to notch TD number three for the Rebels. Jones try for the extra point failed and the Rebs left the field at halftime with a 19-0 lead.

The Knights came back fighting in the second half mounting a drive that fell through at the

BULLDOGS AFTER 10TH Tech Takes On Lamar Tonight

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's grid-iron squad will be trying to take up where it left off last season when the Bulldogs face Lamar Tech at 8 p.m., here Saturday in their opener.

Tech will be seeking its tenth straight win, nine coming in a row last season after an opening 13-6 loss to Lamar Tech. And from all indications, the Beaumont team will field a team as strong or stronger this year than that one that kept the Bulldogs from an unbeaten season.

Coach Joe Aillet reports a bigger demand for season tickets to Tech games than ever before and there is a good chance a capacity crowd may see the opener. Aillet reports season ticket sales up 15 to 20 per cent over a year ago. Lamar Tech has the advantage of already having played one game, a 42-6 rout of the National

Beman, Gardner Advance In Amateur Golf Tourney

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Compact Deane Beman swept past Texan John Farquhar 5 and 4 with a late birdie barrage and cool, unruffled Bob Gardner ended the spectacular bid of teen-ager Chuck Lewis 2 and 1 Friday in the 36-hole semifinals of the National Amateur Golf Championship.

Beman, crew-cut, pink-faced Maryland senior with a wealth of international experience, made up a two-stroke deficit to put even with Farquhar in the morning round, then fired three birdies on the last five holes to put it away after taking the lead early in the afternoon.

Gardner, dapper 39-year-old New York public relations man, making his seventh try for the Amateur title, fought back in the waning hours of the afternoon to defeat Lewis, 15-year-old son of a Little Rock golfer and the darling of the galleries.

GRAB SOLE LEAD

Yankees Master Orioles, 4 To 2

NEW YORK (AP) — Hector Lopez and Roger Maris walloped home runs Friday night as the New York Yankees moved into a one-game lead over Baltimore by beating the Orioles 4-2 with ninth inning help from reliever Bobby Shantz in the opener of a four-game series.

Starter Whitey Ford, smarting from a "dead-arm" tag by Baltimore Manager Paul Richards, shut out the Birds on five hits until they broke loose with two out in the ninth.

But Shantz, coming on with the bases loaded, saved the decision by striking out Marv Breeding with the tying run on base after giving up a two-run single by Jim Busby.

It was the 10th victory against nine defeats for Ford, a 31-year-old left-hander who is having his worst season. The stubby south-paw had retired 14 in a row, and hadn't walked a man until the ninth. Then he had to give way when Walt Dropp singled, Ron Hansen doubled and Gus Triandos walked, loading the bases.

Busby's single broke up a string

Dodgers Top Chicubs, 5-4

With Drysdale

CHICAGO (AP) — Maury Wills' run-scoring single in the ninth inning provided Los Angeles with a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday after the Dodgers had blown a four-run lead behind right-hander Don Drysdale.

The loss was the sixth straight for the Cubs, who managed to end Drysdale's string of scoreless innings at 26 but were stymied by reliever Larry Sherry.

A walk and a sacrifice preceded Wills' ninth inning single which provided Sherry with his 14th victory against 8 losses. Joe Scalfano (2-3) was the loser.

The Dodgers grabbed a 4-0 lead before the Cubs could catch up to Drysdale. A walk and Joe Pignatano's double provided one run in the third and Los Angeles added three more in the sixth on a double by Tommy Davis, a single by Norm Larker and Frank Howard's 22nd homer.

Chicago picked up a run in the sixth as Richie Ashburn's single, a walk and Sammy Taylor's single, ended Drysdale's string. They kayoed Drysdale in the seventh when they tied the score with three runs.

Otis Davis In 400-Meter Tie With Kaufmann

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Otis Davis, American gold medal 400-meter winner at Rome and Germany's Carl Kaufmann, the silver medalist, were declared joint winners of a 400-meter race Friday night.

Both set a world record of 44.9 seconds for the 400 meters in the Olympics.

Friday night, both ran a fine race which thrilled 60,000 fans watching an international invitational track and field in Cologne Stadium.

Both were clocked a "slow" 45.7 seconds.

PHILS BLANKED, 4-0

Spahn Throws No-Hit Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves reached one of his top goals Friday night by pitching a no-hitter in a 4-0 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies for his 11th 20-victory season.

The all-time winningest left-hander in National League history struck out 15 and walked two while gaining this 287th victory of his career and matching teammate Lew Burdette's no-hitter against these same Phils on August 18.

It was Spahn's fourth shutout of the season and his 51st since winning his first major league game in 1946.

A brilliant play by shortstop Johnny Logan and first baseman Joe Adcock saved the no-hitter on the final out.

Bob Malkmus of the Phils rapped the first pitch, and the ball caromed off Spahn's glove. Logan dashed in behind the mound, scooped up the ball and fired to first, where Adcock stretched and stabbed the low and wide throw.

Three Homers Boost Indians Past A's, 4-2

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians hit three home runs in the third inning and went on to whip Kansas City 4-2 Friday night for their 14th straight triumph over the Athletics.

Bill Tuttle homered for Kansas City in the first inning to get the A's off to a 1-0 lead.

Then in the third, Mike de la Hoz, John Romano and Tito Francona each cracked solo homers to clinch the decision for Jim Perry (17-8). Ned Garver (2-9) was the loser.

Beman, Gardner Advance In Amateur Golf Tourney

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Compact Deane Beman swept past Texan John Farquhar 5 and 4 with a late birdie barrage and cool, unruffled Bob Gardner ended the spectacular bid of teen-ager Chuck Lewis 2 and 1 Friday in the 36-hole semifinals of the National Amateur Golf Championship.

Beman, crew-cut, pink-faced Maryland senior with a wealth of international experience, made up a two-stroke deficit to pull even with Farquhar in the morning round, then fired three birdies on the last five holes to put it away after taking the lead early in the afternoon.

Gardner, dapper 39-year-old New York public relations man yard, par 35-36—71 St. Louis Country Club.

Gardner finally beat the 140-pound, dark-haired Arkansas youngster with a 12-foot putt for a par on the 35th hole after both had been trapped on their approaches.

Beman, two down after 14 holes of the morning round, got ahead to stay with a par 3 on the 21st hole when the bespectacled Farquhar three-putted, made it 2-up at the 27th with another routine par, then swept away with birdies on the 28th, 29th and 32nd holes. The clincher was a 7-foot putt on the 32nd.

Both matches had been even at the halfway mark, as scores generally soared from the par-busting that's been shaking this course in the St. Louis suburbs since 200 took dead aim on the title last Monday.

The results on this hot, sticky day were about as expected. The birdies and brilliant shots Lewis came up with throughout the week still were there, but his game went erratic and his putter sour on too many holes.

It was only the fact that Gardner had some putting and long-iron problems of his own that kept the margin from being wider. Lewis, who never was behind an opponent at any stage in the tournament until Friday and who startled amateur golf by crushing defending champion Jack Nicklaus in the fourth round, was 2-up after 23 holes. Then Gardner, who has won amateur titles on both coasts—the California Amateur and the New York Metropolitan—turned on the methodical, calm game that makes him so tough in match play.

Spahn Throws No-Hit Game

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren

Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves

day night by pitching a no-hitter in a 4-0 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies for his 11th 20-victory season.

The all-time winningest left-hander in National League history struck out 15 and walked two while gaining this 287th victory of his career and matching teammate Lew Burdette's no-hitter against these same Phils on August 18.

It was Spahn's fourth shutout of the season and his 51st since winning his first major league game in 1946.

A brilliant play by shortstop

Johnny Logan and first baseman

Joe Adcock saved the no-hitter—on the final out.

Bob Malkmus of the Phils rapped the first pitch, and the ball caromed off Spahn's glove.

Logan dashed in behind the mound, scooped up the ball and fired to first, where Adcock stretched and stabbed the low and wide throw.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH H. MERCER

Mercer-Slayter Wedding Vows Said In Bastrop

Miss Verona Slayter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Slayter of Houston, Texas, became the bride of Kenneth H. Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mercer, of Bastrop, in a candlelight ceremony in the Second Baptist Church of Bastrop, The Rev. Kenneth Wall and the Rev. J. E. Hinkle officiated at the service, on Saturday, September 3, at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church. An arch was entwined with magnolia foliage.

Bob Engles sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," and was accompanied by Miss Rena Fae Norris at the piano. Mrs. Kenneth Wall of Winnfield also performed at the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length dress of white satin, fashioned with chantilly lace at the neckline and waist, and with a cathedral length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of tiny pearls. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Faye Hataway of Dry Prong, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her waltz-length dress was of blue taffeta, and she wore a small blue feathered bandeau. Her crescent-shaped bouquet was formed of pink feathered chrysanthemums. Bridesmaids were Misses Flora and Phyllis Slater, sisters of the bride, who wore dresses similar to that of the maid of honor. Miss Brenda Kay Mercer, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. She wore a long dress of white nylon net over white taffeta and carried a small flower basket.

Best man was Charles R. Mercer and groomsmen were Kim Seago of Baton Rouge and C. L. Remore of Bastrop. Charles R. Mercer Jr. served as ring bearer, while Winfred Slayter Jr., brother of the bride, and Clifton Hataway, cousin of the bride, acted as candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Slayter wore a dusty blue silk suit, a pink gardenia corsage, and pink accessories. Mrs. Mercer was attired in light blue lace over linen, white accessories, and a corsage of white and pale pink gardenias.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony was a reception in the parlor of the church. Flowers and greenery surrounded the punch bowl on the refreshment table, which was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums were in evidence throughout the room. Miss Flora Slayter presided at the bride's book.

The bride and groom left for a trip following the reception. For traveling, the bride chose a white faille sheath dress, white accessories, and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Southwestern University School of Business Administration in Houston, Texas, and the groom is a senior at Louisiana Baptist College, Pineville. The couple will reside at 1401 Donahue Road, Pineville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tallock, Greenville, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mercer, Fayetteville, Arkansas, Miss Glenda Ruth Nugent, Dry Prong.

Pierian Club Hears Speakers Discuss Garden

The Community Center of Oak Ridge was the scene Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. H. A. Baker and Mrs. M. T. Limerick were co-hostesses for the September meeting of the Pierian Club. Autumn arrangements of celosia, cattails, castor beans, pampas grass, berries and peppers filled the hall.

Mrs. A. B. Carroll, president, welcomed those present. Program chairman Mrs. A. B. Conger introduced the first speaker, Mrs. E. M. Barham, who gave a talk on bulbs for fall planting. Mrs. Conger then introduced Mrs. Joe Carter who spoke on trees for southern gardens.

The monthly bulletin was reviewed and a letter from the district president read. It was pointed out to the group that the yearly project for Federated Clubs in Louisiana is that Poverty Point in northeast Louisiana be declared a national monument by Congress and preserved as the site of an Indian city in the time of Moses. Mrs. W. M. Nolan was appointed as chairman of the project.

Mrs. B. E. Barham reported on repairs made during the summer months to the Community Center, stating that the Masonic Lodge had shared the expenses.

Mrs. A. B. Carroll stated that as Pierian president she will attend the next meeting of the Oak Ridge Community Council. Also, the club voted to extend an invitation to the fifth district president, Mrs. Thomas Jett, to be a guest at the annual social of the club in the spring.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. A. B. Carroll, Mrs. E. M. Barham, Mrs. Norman McDuffie, Mrs. Weldon Fitch, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. Homer Flynn, Mrs. S. L. Parks, Mrs. Sam Williams, Mrs. R. E. Barham Sr., Mrs. T. E. Barham, Mrs. Elmer McLenon, Mrs. C. E. Shepard, Mrs. E. A. Barham, Mrs. B. E. Barham, Miss Queenie McDuffie, Mrs. W. M. Nolan, Mrs. M. T. Limerick, Mrs. R. C. Hathcox, Mrs. A. B. Conger, Mrs. H. A. Baker, Mrs. Joe Carter and Mrs. Conrad McDuffie.

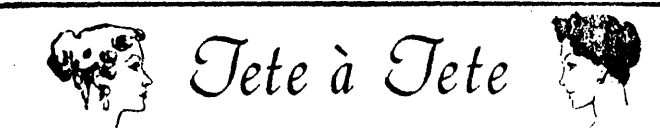

Colors Change In Interior Decorating

If there is a nation-wide color trend, it doesn't seem able to make up its mind. On the one hand is a school of decorators pushing for a return to dark-dark walls and on the other, is the group which advocates using delicate shades that are not deep enough even to be called pastel. There seems to be little question, however, that the decorator's long marriage to clinically white walls and earth-toned floor areas is becoming a thing of the past. Nowhere is this more evident than in carpet which traditionally makes gradual, rather than dramatic, color changes.

For the past decade colors such as nutria, sandalwood, beige, cinnamon and greige have dominated the homemaker's carpet selections. Though these colors are still sold in volume, decorators and retail merchants report that the lavender-violet-iliac family is steadily increasing in popularity among carpet purchasers. This generally seems to support a move toward more vivid color on the floor in contrast to both the dark and light wall color directions.

MRS. JAMES LARRY DENMON, who before her marriage Thursday evening, September 8, was Miss Nita Thompson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thompson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Denmon, all of Forest. The Rev. H. G. Hammons performed the ceremony in the Forest Baptist Church.

FOOTBALL EXCITEMENT will prevail this weekend at Baton Rouge, when the L.S.U. Tigers meet the Texas A&M Aggies at Tiger Stadium Saturday night. Attending the event will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Godfrey Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Curry III, Barry Barringer, Prent Seymour, Miss Mary Mills Hawkins of Baton Rouge, and Ken Abington Jr.

A GARDEN PARTY will be held Sunday afternoon by the Women's Club of Northeast State Louisiana College, which will entertain on the lawn of the home of Dr. and Mrs. George T. Walker.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD JEAN MEDARIES of Monroe announced the arrival of a son, Donald Jean Jr., who was born September 4. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Medaries of Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Wallace of Shreveport.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Read Column As Child, Gives Thanks Today

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

I am sure all my readers will understand and not censure me for the satisfaction I felt when I got this letter. Accompanying it was a delightful sketch of a roly-poly baby who looked every inch contented with life.

Mrs. S. writes: "I have been reading your column since I was 10 or 11 years old and I have enjoyed it because I love babies. I remember reading about jealousy problems—which troubled me, to—and vowing I would be careful to prevent my child from suffering such emotions."

"Now I am blessed with a wonderful husband and a beautiful baby daughter. Also, as a result of reading your column, I am breast-feeding her and it is a wonderful experience to watch her gain so nicely on my milk. I would like your booklet, 'The First Six Months,' and I am including a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents. I thank you for everything."

COMMENT: Naturally, I am so gratified that you have been able to nurse this fine, big baby, and I know that you and she will benefit physically and emotionally from the experience.

As for jealousy let's look at it this way. This is a natural emotion and we cannot possibly spare a child every pang of it. I fear, at times, we have gone to ridiculous lengths to prevent the child from ever knowing there was such an emotion.

It is fine to make the older child feel important and to understand that for a time he needs a little extra attention to keep him from feeling pushed out of place. But it isn't necessary to ignore the baby, or to give the older child the feeling that you don't love the baby—so that he shall feel especially well-loved.

EACH HAS PLACE: This is no way to make the child feel secure. In fact he may get the idea that if the family doesn't love this newcomer, maybe they didn't love him when he was a baby. See what funny ideas a child may get from artificial

Beta Sigma Phi Meets, Plans Rush Parties

Plans for a series of rush parties were outlined at a meeting of Beta Sigma Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Thursday evening in the St. Paul Methodist Church.

Preceding the business session, Miss Joyce Lanier, president, conducted the ritual of jewels for Mrs. Bob Demoss, and was assisted by Mrs. A. A. Kemp, Mrs. Norman Smith and Mrs. E. H. Bailey. During the candlelight ceremony, Mrs. George Nastasi was also installed as sponsor for the organization and presented a pin of the sorority.

An informal get-acquainted party for the rushees was planned for next Thursday, September 22 at the home of Mrs. George Smale, 1304 Roselawn, at 7:30 p.m. A model meeting will be held October 6 at the church, with date for the preferential tea to be announced.

The ways and means committee, with Mrs. Carl Johnson, chairman, announced plans for a pizza supper for members and their husbands to be held Sunday, October 9 at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Nastasi, at 6 p.m.

"Self-Analysis" was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. Steve Savanna, leader, Mrs. Smale and Miss Gyl Rowell, who concluded with a "Fashion Security" quiz.

During the social hour the mystery package was won by Mrs. Ted Carter and refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Hinkley and Mrs. Joe Lister, from a table appointed in a seasonal theme.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH H. MERCER

Mercer-Slayter Wedding Vows Said In Bastrop

Miss Verona Slayter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Slayter of Houston, Texas, became the bride of Kenneth H. Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mercer, of Bastrop, in a candlelight ceremony in the Second Baptist Church of Bastrop, The Rev. Kenneth Wall and the Rev. J. E. Hinkle officiated at the service, on Saturday, September 3, at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church. An arch was entwined with magnolia foliage.

Bob Engles sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," and was accompanied by Miss Rema Fae Norris at the piano. Mrs. Kenneth Wall of Winnfield also performed at the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length dress of white satin, fashioned with a high collar, a long train, and a full skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of tiny pearls. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Faye Hataway of Dry Prong, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her waltz-length dress was of blue taffeta, and she wore a small blue feathered bandeau. Her crescent-shaped bouquet was formed of pink feathered chrysanthemums. Bridesmaids were Misses Flora and Phyllis Slater, sisters of the bride, who wore dresses similar to that of the maid of honor. Miss Brenda Kay Mercer, niece of the bridegroom, acted as flower girl. She wore a long dress of white nylon net over white taffeta and carried a small flower basket.

Best man was Charles R. Mercer and groomsmen were Kim Seago of Baton Rouge and C. L. Remore of Bastrop. Charles R. Mercer Jr. served as ring bearer, while Winfred Slayter Jr., brother of the bride, and Clifton Hataway, cousin of the bride, acted as candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Slayter wore a dusty blue silk suit, a pink gardenia corsage, and pink accessories. Mrs. Mercer was attired in light blue lace over linen, white accessories, and a corsage of white and pale pink gardenias.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony was a reception in the parlor of the church. Flowers and greenery surrounded the punch bowl on the refreshment table, which was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums were in evidence throughout the room. Miss Flora Slayter presided at the bride's table.

The bride and groom left for a trip following the reception. For traveling, the bride chose a white faille sheath dress, white accessories, and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Southwestern University School of Business Administration in Houston, Texas, and the groom is a senior at Louisiana Baptist College, Pineville. The couple will reside at 1401 Donahue Road, Pineville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tallock, Greenville, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mercer, Fayetteville, Arkansas, Miss Glenda Ruth Nugent, Dry Prong.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Count Yourself Lucky You Didn't Marry Him

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 18-year-old daughter went to work in an office three months ago. She's met many nice young men but the one she sees the most has me worried.

She says he's 26 but he looks like 36. He never takes her any place except for a ride to neighboring towns "to see a movie or attend a band concert." When I ask why he doesn't take her to entertainment here she says she's never thought about it. He calls her at odd hours and seems to whisper on the phone.

My husband and I suspect he is married. We haven't said anything to our daughter but we are deeply concerned. How can we find out more about this man without letting her know we're checking?

He's unfriendly to us, says "hello" and "goodbye" and seems to want to get out of the house as fast as possible. Please help us, —W.P.

Dear W.P.: Hire a private investigating agency to check him out. The guy sounds kinky and no company for a naive 18-year-old girl.

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé and I were planning to build a home. My parents gave us an acre of ground as an engagement present. Hal's mother keeps thinking of reasons to postpone our marriage. Her last excuse was that he should pay off his car first.

We've had many fights over his mother's interference. Last night Hal suggested we break up completely. He wants me to return his birthday and Christmas gifts. He says his mother can use them. We also bought some appliances together. He says I can keep them if I pay him for half. Otherwise he says he'll pay me for half and give them to his mother.

The hurtful part of all this is I still love him. Do you think if we both give a little we can patch up our differences and have a good marriage? —STILL IN LOVE

Dear Still: Hal doesn't want to "give a little." He only wants his gifts back.

Return everything, including the appliances. If he wants to pay you for half, fine, but don't press him. If the acre of land presented by your folks is in joint ownership, he should of course turn it over to you. Consider yourself lucky not to have gone through with this marriage.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know what it takes before my wife learns her lesson.

We have three children, 11, nine and seven years of age. We live in a neighborhood loaded with kids of all ages.

Whenever one of our kids has a run-in with a playmate, my wife sticks her nose into it. She has gone to the parents of several youngsters "to straighten out matters," and then she's gotten into a fight with the adults.

The kids make up the next day, but my wife is on bad terms with half the neighborhood. Please advise me, —M.M.O.

Dear M.M.O.: A mother who becomes involved in the petty squabbles of her children is more childish than the kids. Only under extraordinary circumstances should one parent go to another, and then the meeting should be private or it becomes an extension of the kids' fight. Ask your wife to please wait until you get home before she "does anything." By then the trouble will have been settled by the kids.

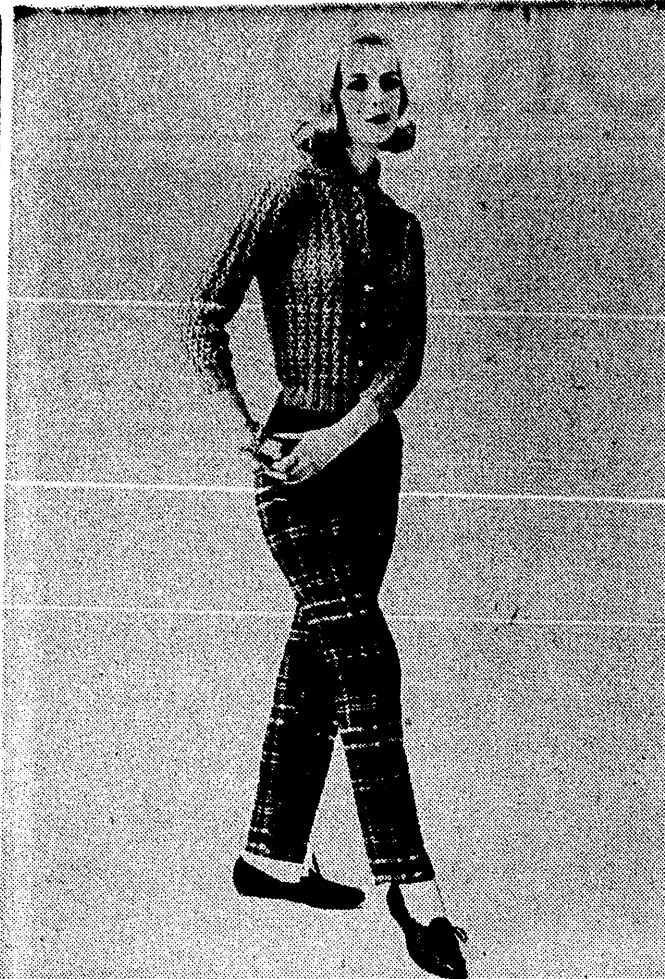

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for "Ann Landers" booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Questions And Answers Guide For Homemakers

By BETTY PEPIS

Q. — We have just painted our living room bone white. The rug is black, grey and white tweed.

Our modern sofa and loveseat are upholstered in turquoise and green stripe. What color would you suggest for lounge chair and draperies for a large picture window? I would also appreciate suggestions for pair of lamps and for small accessories.

A. — You can, of course, build a scheme around the turquoise and green of your furniture, but a fresher approach would consist of white and pale greenish tones with turquoise and deep green accents. Cover the chair in a very pale yellow green, not the chartreuse of a few years ago but a paler, more yellow tone. The draperies could be the same shade or in a clear, pale yellow. The lamps could be ceramic in soft yellow or green and turquoise might be used for some other accessories. Sofa pillows in white, green and shades of yellow would be good. Add a few metallic accents — a brass or silver for sparkle.

Q. — What color would you suggest for ceiling and sides of a kitchen with blue and white marbled tile floor and counter tops? The walls, to a height of four feet, have yellow plastic tile edged in black.

A. — The yellow and blue you have sound cheerful and might well be continued as the colors of the room. You could paint cabinets and upper walls white or pale yellow. The ceiling would be a pleasantly startling note painted brilliant blue. Curtains might be white, possibly trimmed in blue. Cannisters and the like could be yellow.

Q. — I would like a color suggestion for my dining room walls. The table and chairs are Early American. Floor is light and dark-brown tile, curtains are turquoise and woodwork is dark.

A. — Paint the walls off-white, pale yellow or a greyed turquoise. Any of these will be in keeping with the Early American furniture and your present colors. Pewter accessories would be good and you might use a vase, bowl, or some other accessory in bright red.

Q. — My bedroom is very tiny (9x7) and has three doors and three windows. There is very little wall space and my bed is placed under a double window on one wall. The bed completely fills this wall. The floor is brown, green and white linoleum. What color would you suggest for walls, bedspread and curtains?

A. — Most interesting way to handle this area would be to create the illusion of a tent or a niche. Make a bed cover of white and green striped material and have several large pillows covered in the same fabric. This will create the effect of a couch or day bed. Curtains, or better, fabric shades, behind the bed of the same size of the bed. You can paint other walls and woodwork white or the very palest green. If the fabric used elsewhere is inexpensive enough it could be used like wallpaper on all other walls. Even ceiling and doors could be covered with it for an all-over effect which would have the popular tent look. Accessories and small throw pillows on the bed should be brighter shade of green or blue.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Patients under anesthetic in dental clinics and offices can be provided with a new safeguard — use of an instrument that continuously "broadcasts" the condition of the patient's heart.

The heart monitor was invented by Dr. William F. Velling, Detroit surgeon, to help solve a problem in hospital operating rooms.

Industry Output Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production declined about one per cent last month despite the fact that the important auto industry fared better than expected, the Federal Reserve Board reported Friday.

The board said its index, which measures the output of mines, factories and utilities, dropped in August to 109 per cent of the 1957 average. The July figure, which has been revised upward one point, was 110 compared with a record 111 in January.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Count Yourself Lucky You Didn't Marry Him

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 18-year-old daughter went to work in an office three months ago. She's met many nice young men but the one she sees the most has me worried.

She says he's 26 but he looks like 36. He never takes her anywhere except for a ride to neighboring towns "to see a movie or attend a band concert." When I ask why he doesn't take her to entertainment here she says she's never thought about it. He calls her at odd hours and seems to be on the phone.

My husband and I suspect he is married. We haven't said anything to our daughter but we are deeply concerned. How can we find out more about this man without letting her know we're checking?

He's unfriendly to us, says "hello" and "goodbye" and seems to want to get out of the house as fast as possible. Please help us. —W.P.

Dear W.P.: Hire a private investigating agency to check him out. The guy sounds kinky and no company for a naive 18-year-old girl.

Dear Ann Landers: My fiancé and I were planning to build a home. My parents gave us an acre of ground as an engagement present. Hal's mother keeps thinking of reasons to postpone our marriage. Her last excuse was that he should pay off his car first.

We've had many fights over his mother's interference. Last night Hal suggested we break up completely. He wants me to return his birthday and Christmas gifts. He says his mother can use them. We also bought some appliances together. He says I can keep them if I pay him for half. Otherwise he says he'll pay me for half and give them to his mother.

The hurtful part of all this is I still love him. Do you think if we both give a little we can patch up our differences and have a good marriage? —STILL IN LOVE

Dear Still: Hal doesn't want to "give a little." He only wants his gifts back.

DRIVE FOR NEEDY STARTED Welfare Laws Topic Of Meet

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

About 20 Negro leaders conferred Friday to try and do something about Negro families who have been cut from the welfare rolls under new laws enacted in the last session of the Louisiana legislature.

The meeting, called by Rev. P. C. Keal, was held at the Negro First Baptist Church. Keal is pastor of the church.

Rev. P. Rayfield Brown of the Calvary Baptist Church of West Monroe presided. The main topic was the conditions prevailing after the new laws enacted in the last session of the Louisiana legislature.

Negro attorney St. Elmo Johnson set the tone of the meeting by saying the conference was "non-political, non-sectarian and strictly humanitarian."

Meanwhile Friday, a group of white ministers who met Wednesday on the welfare situation, released a press statement on their meeting and aims.

The Rev. George W. Pomeroy of the First Methodist Church of Monroe released the statement. It called for "concerned citizens to pool their collective thinking and resources to help face the dire need which has become acute in recent weeks, due to the fact that many children are now no longer eligible for aid from the Department of Public Welfare."

The meeting has been called for Thursday. The statement said time and place would be announced later.

Johnson said 1,438 persons had been cut from the welfare rolls in Ouachita Parish.

He said that of 25,501 children cut from the rolls throughout Louisiana, "21,364 of them were Negroes."

"Not a Negro person was permitted in the legislature when these laws were passed," Johnson said, adding, "I'm not saying the legislature's action was racial as such — but I know this — children are suffering."

"I don't think anyone, regardless of racial identity, would refuse to feed a hungry dog. I'm just wondering about these children."

"In Ouachita Parish," he said, "the largest payroll is the welfare," and added that business may be hurt by the legislature's action.

"I hate to pick up the newspaper and see where women in England have to offer to feed our children."

Negro Doctor S. D. Hill also appeared at the meeting. "What we need is money. We can make the long speeches tomorrow," he said. He called for an offering from the group and $61 was collected to be turned over to the United Givers Fund.

The group decided to raise funds at the respective churches the following two Sundays, turn the money over to the society, which in turn will seek out the needy and provide for them.

Lucile Howard of the Colored Welfare Society was present and spoke briefly, promising to cooperate in the drive. She said she knew personally of "51 special cases in desperate need."

"Our greatest need is food. Let us lift the standards of our race by doing better," she pleaded.

Rev. J. H. Wilbert of the Trinitarian Baptist Church said the best way to relieve the suffering in the future is raise morals of the people.

"Our men are just leaving too many children around," he said. "These children are not responsible — but these men ought to be put in jail. I know our women ought to be morally clean, but so should our men. If the children are hungry, I'm going to feed them or die."

Another meeting is scheduled for Monday at the Progressive Baptist Church.

Brown stated that illegitimate children stricken from the welfare rolls "cannot get a free lunch at the schools now."

Two or three of the ministers present cited instances of need in their community.

One said a Negro family was seen eating from a garbage can. Another said several Negro children were seen eating watermelons already eaten over by workmen on the job.

There was some sentiment for development of an organization dedicated to the repeal of the welfare laws.

This was promptly scotched by Keal, who, rising to his feet said, "This is purely an emergency action. We must find some way to provide for the children first."

The ministers alliance is an organization and we can work through it as well as any other."

Here is the text of the white ministers statement in full:

"In recent days there has come to the attention of our community the reality of pressing need for the basic necessities of life for dependent children in our midst."

As a result of this need a group of ministers met this week to see if there was some way we could cooperatively alleviate this distress.

"Upon examination of the evidence at our disposal it was discovered that the need was greater than could be handled by our resources alone. It was therefore decided to invite a larger group of concerned citizens to pool their collective thinking and resources to help face the dire need which has become acute in recent weeks, due to the fact many children are now no longer eligible for aid from the Department of Public Welfare."

"Such a meeting has been called for Thursday of next week at a time and place to be announced at a later date."

SOVIET DIPLOMATS HINT

Khrushchev May Seek Ike Meet

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet diplomats hinted Friday Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev might seek a private meeting with President Eisenhower at the United Nations session in New York next week.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said in Washington there had been no Soviet overtures and called the Russian diplomatic hints "speculative and somewhat propaganda-like stories that do not even originate from Khrushchev."

The Soviet diplomats said Khrushchev may not only try to effect a reconciliation with Eisenhower but also may seek personal meetings with presidential nominees John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

They indicated this would depend on whether things go well for the Soviet Premier when his liner Baltika arrives in New York Monday morning. They also said he would try to avoid any action that might be interpreted as an attempt to influence the election.

Relations between Khrushchev and Eisenhower have been frosty since the abortive Paris summit conference last May when Khrushchev in attacking U2 flights over Russia referred to Eisenhower as "a thief caught red-handed."

This correspondent asked whether Khrushchev now felt that he had gone too far in his personal attacks on Eisenhower.

"Mr. Khrushchev was very angry at the time," a Soviet diplomat said.

Asked how the overture for a reconciliation might be put to

Eisenhower, the diplomat said: "There are various ways in which the Russians were not overly concerned about the method."

There have been indications for several days that Khrushchev was taking a softer line toward Eisenhower and recently he specifically exonerated him from responsibility for the U-2 incident which he used to torpedo the summit conference.

Khrushchev told U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson in Moscow last week at a Kremlin reception that he still believed Eisenhower had no advance knowledge of the U2 flight over Russian territory.

The sources recalled that Khrushchev on the same occasion told Thompson he had to react to the incident the way he did and had no alternative.

Both remarks were made publicly apparently with the intention of softening the ground for possible more important moves later.

But there was no indication whether Khrushchev is prepared to atone in concrete terms as the price for a meeting with Eisenhower. Eisenhower has indicated he would not confer with Khrushchev until a number of conditions had been met, including freeing of two RB47 fliers he said were being held illegally.

The Communist sources were non-committal on this point and merely said there was a strong feeling inside Russia that the Americans should stand trial for espionage.

State Leaders Will Kick Off Kennedy Drive

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Gov. John Patterson of Alabama and Louisiana Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Russell Long are among featured speakers who will kick off the Kennedy-Johnson campaign in Louisiana Saturday.

More than 50 political figures are expected when the rally opens at noon, including other members of the Louisiana congressional delegation.

Gov. Patterson, who will deliver the keynote address, said he would talk on why Louisiana citizens and all Southerners should support the Democratic ticket.

Frank Ellis of New Orleans, state campaign manager for the Kennedy forces, said invitations were mailed to elected state and local officials throughout the state.

He said the officials will be asked to serve as campaign leaders in their localities.

Terrorists-Slay Many 1,500 Africans and 16 Europeans since the nation became independent Jan. 1, the government announced.

DRIVE FOR NEEDY STARTED

Welfare Laws Topic Of Meet

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

About 20 Negro leaders conferred Friday to try and do something about the welfare laws under new laws enacted in the last session of the Louisiana legislature.

The meeting, called by Rev. P. C. Keal, was held at the Negro First Baptist Church. Keal is pastor of the church.

Rev. P. Rayfield Brown of the Calvary Baptist Church of West Monroe presided. The main topic was the conditions prevailing after the welfare laws were enacted.

Negro attorney St. Elmo Johnson set the tone of the meeting by saying the conference was "non-political, non-sectarian and strictly humanitarian."

Meanwhile Friday, a group of white ministers who met Wednesday on the welfare situation, released a press statement on their meeting and aims.

The Rev. George W. Pomeroy of the First Methodist Church of Monroe released the statement. It called for "concerned citizens to pool their collective thinking and resources to help face the dire need which has become acute in recent weeks, due to the fact that many children are now no longer eligible for aid from the Department of Public Welfare."

The meeting has been called for Thursday. The statement said time and place would be announced later.

Johnson said 1,438 persons had been cut from the welfare rolls in Ouachita Parish.

He said that of 22,501 children cut from the rolls throughout Louisiana, "21,364 of them were Negroes."

"Not a Negro person was permitted in the legislature when these laws were passed," Johnson said, adding, "I'm not saying the legislature's action was racial as such — but I know this — children are suffering."

"I don't think anyone, regardless of racial identity, would refuse to feed a hungry dog. I'm just wondering about these children."

"In Ouachita Parish," he said, "the largest payroll is the welfare," and added that business may be hurt by the legislature's action.

"I hate to pick up the newspaper and see where women in England have to offer to feed our children."

Negro Doctor S. D. Hill also appeared at the meeting. "What we need is money. We can make the long speeches tomorrow," he said. He called for an offering from the group and $61 was collected to be turned over to the United Givers Fund.

The group decided to raise funds at the respective churches the following two Sundays, turn the money over to the society, which in turn will seek out the needy and provide for them.

Lucille Howard of the Colored Welfare Society was present and spoke briefly, promising to cooperate in the drive. She said she knew personally of "51 special cases in desperate need."

"Our greatest need is food. Let us lift the standards of our race by doing better," she pleaded.

Rev. J. H. Wilbert of the Trinitarian Baptist Church said the best way to relieve the suffering in the future is raise morals of the people.

"Our men are just leaving too many children around," he said. "These children are not responsible — but these men ought to be put in jail. I know our women ought to be morally clean, but so should our men. If the children are hungry, I'm going to feed them or die."

Another meeting is scheduled for Monday at the Progressive Baptist Church.

Brown stated that illegitimate children stricken from the welfare rolls "cannot get a free lunch at the schools now."

Two or three of the ministers present cited instances of need in their community.

One said a Negro family was seen eating from a garbage can. Another said several Negro children were seen eating watermelons already eaten over by workmen on the job.

There was some sentiment for development of an organization dedicated to the repeal of the welfare laws.

This was promptly scotched by Keal, who, rising to his feet said, "This is purely an emergency action. We must find some way to provide for the children first. The ministers alliance is an organization and we can work through it as well as any other."

Here is the text of the white ministers statement in full:

"In recent days there has come to the attention of our community the reality of pressing need for the basic necessities of life for dependent children in our midst. As a result of this need a group of ministers met this week to see if there was some way we could cooperatively alleviate this distress."

"Upon examination of the evidence at our disposal it was discovered that the need was greater than could be handled by our resources alone. It was therefore decided to invite a larger group of concerned citizens to pool their collective thinking and resources to help face the dire need which has become acute in recent weeks, due to the fact many children are now no longer eligible for aid from the Department of Public Welfare."

"Such a meeting has been called for Thursday of next week at a time and place to be announced at a later date."

Katanga Invasion Called Off Again

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese army invasion of rebel Katanga Province from the north appeared Friday to have been called off for the second time.

A Katanga government spokesman said 300 soldiers who hiked in 36 miles from Kivu Province to a point near the town of Kongolo "seem to have disappeared."

Perhaps they were discouraged by the fact a bridge had been blown up in their path by defense forces. A U. N. detachment kept watch at the chasm.

The first attempt at invasion fizzled last week.

A cease-fire order is supposed to have halted all such activity. Katanga had continuing problems, however, from an uprising of Baluba tribesmen that has brought disorders, if not open warfare, to several interior towns.

Unconfirmed reports which reached Elisabethville Friday, said Katanga troops have slain from 20 to 40 of the tribesmen who raided the mining town of Luena and terrorized the mine staff.

U. N. troops have sought to guard refugees and hold down destruction there and in other affected centers. But Premier Moise Tshombe's government declares they're not doing enough.

It handed over a note to the United Nations for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold demanding that the United Nations compensate Europeans — Belgians — for damages suffered in midweek fighting at Manono, a mining town 400 miles north of Elisabethville.

"There is no doubt that in Manono the United Nations prevented the Katanga forces from carrying out their task (of defense) and prevented reinforcements being sent there to take the necessary steps to quell the uprising," the government said.

"The United Nations carries the whole responsibility for the damages suffered by the white population as a result of rioting and looting."

The note included the following points:

1. The arrival of U. N. forces has coincided with disorders in various places in Katanga—notably Jadotville, Kamina, Kabongo, Bukama, Albertville, Kabalo, Manono and Luena.

2. Where these troubles arose, U. N. intervention has been limited to the protection of U. N. barracks and the white population.

3. Orders grounding the Katanga air force—lifted earlier this week—contradicted assurances by Hammarskjold and made it impossible for the Katanga army and police to maintain internal order.

Rules On Scholarship

BATON ROUGE (AP)—An attorney general's opinion Friday ruled a recipient of a Louisiana legislative scholarship must show two years' residence in the state.

The opinion, by Asst. Atty. Gen. John R. Hunter Jr., was written at the request of state Rep. L. D. Napper of Lincoln Parish.

Napper wanted to know whether a non-out-of-state student can acquire sufficient residence to gain a legislative scholarship.

U.S. OFFICIAL SAYS

Soviets May Try Space Feat Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's space chief has reacted in advance to the "space spectacular" which rumor says the Russians will launch in the near future.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA), said in a statement that a Soviet manned space flight "is not unexpected."

But in response to newsmen's inquiries, he said "your guess is doubtless better than mine as to how they will time such a launch."

Whatever the Russians do, he said, the United States will go ahead with its own man-in-space program, Project Mercury.

There has been speculation here and abroad that the Russians might launch a manned satellite, or some other space pacemaker, to coincide with:

—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit, starting next week to the United Nations in New York.

—The third anniversary on Oct. 4 of Sputnik I, history's first artificial earth satellite.

—The U. S. presidential election or the anniversary of the Red revolution in November.

This country plans to hang a

400-pound spacecraft in orbit around the moon late this month. It does not, however, expect to put a man in orbit around the earth until some time next year.

Glennan's statement: "Recent reports and speculation in the press point to the probability that the Soviet Union soon may undertake a major space experiment."

"Most of these reports indicate a manned space flight experiment will be attempted."

"Your guess is doubtless better than mine as to how they will time such a launch."

"In any event, a Russian manned experiment is not unexpected. As far back as November, 1957, they had been working hard for at least several years on a space flight system capable of supporting life when they put in orbit the dog Laka."

"In the past few years they have shown they have a booster (rocket) of more than sufficient thrust to accomplish manned experiments."

Passman Says Past Year Was His Best Yet

Congressman Otto E. Passman is home from Washington referring to the past year in Congress as his best yet.

"Congress appropriated $14,484,600 for flood control in our district alone," he said.

Passman added that "next year" he would make a "determined effort" to obtain funds for the proposed 9-foot channel in the Ouachita River.

"Congressional authorization was received this year," he said. "And let me re-emphasize that authorization must be granted before funds can be appropriated."

Passman explained that the received a report on Fifth District flood control expenditures from Major Gen. T. A. Lane, of the Army Corps of Engineers, who is president of the Mississippi River Commission.

According to the general's report, $155,922,600 has been spent for flood control in the Fifth District during the past 14 years.

The estimates for this fiscal year include $12,538,500 for the district's main river program and $1,946,100 for off-river projects, including flood control for Bayou Macon, Boeuf and Tensas rivers.

In addition to the Ouachita channel project, Passman said he would also attempt to get money for the proposed Lake Providence Port.

Authorization was granted for the Lake Providence Port during the past session.

Exhibit Contest To Be Featured At Forest Meet

An Educational Exhibits Contest will be featured again this year at the Louisiana Forest Festival, which is to be held at Winnfield on October 5th through October 8th, the Educational Exhibits Contest Committee announced.

This contest, which requires the entry of an educational booth pertaining to forestry, is open to 4-H Clubs, FFA Chapters, Girl and Boy Scouts, Home Demonstration Clubs, schools and other organizations.

The purpose of the contest is to help in advertising Louisiana forestry resources.

Premiums will be as follows: first place, $140.00; second place, $120.00; third place, $100.00; fourth place, $75.00; fifth place, $60.00; sixth place, $55.00; seventh place, $55.00; eighth place, $45.00; ninth through twelfth places, $25.00 each.

All requests for booth space must be mailed to reach T. S. Colvin, 837 Hope Street, Shreveport, La., no later than September 27th.

Entry forms received after that date will be given consideration only in the event that booth space is still available.

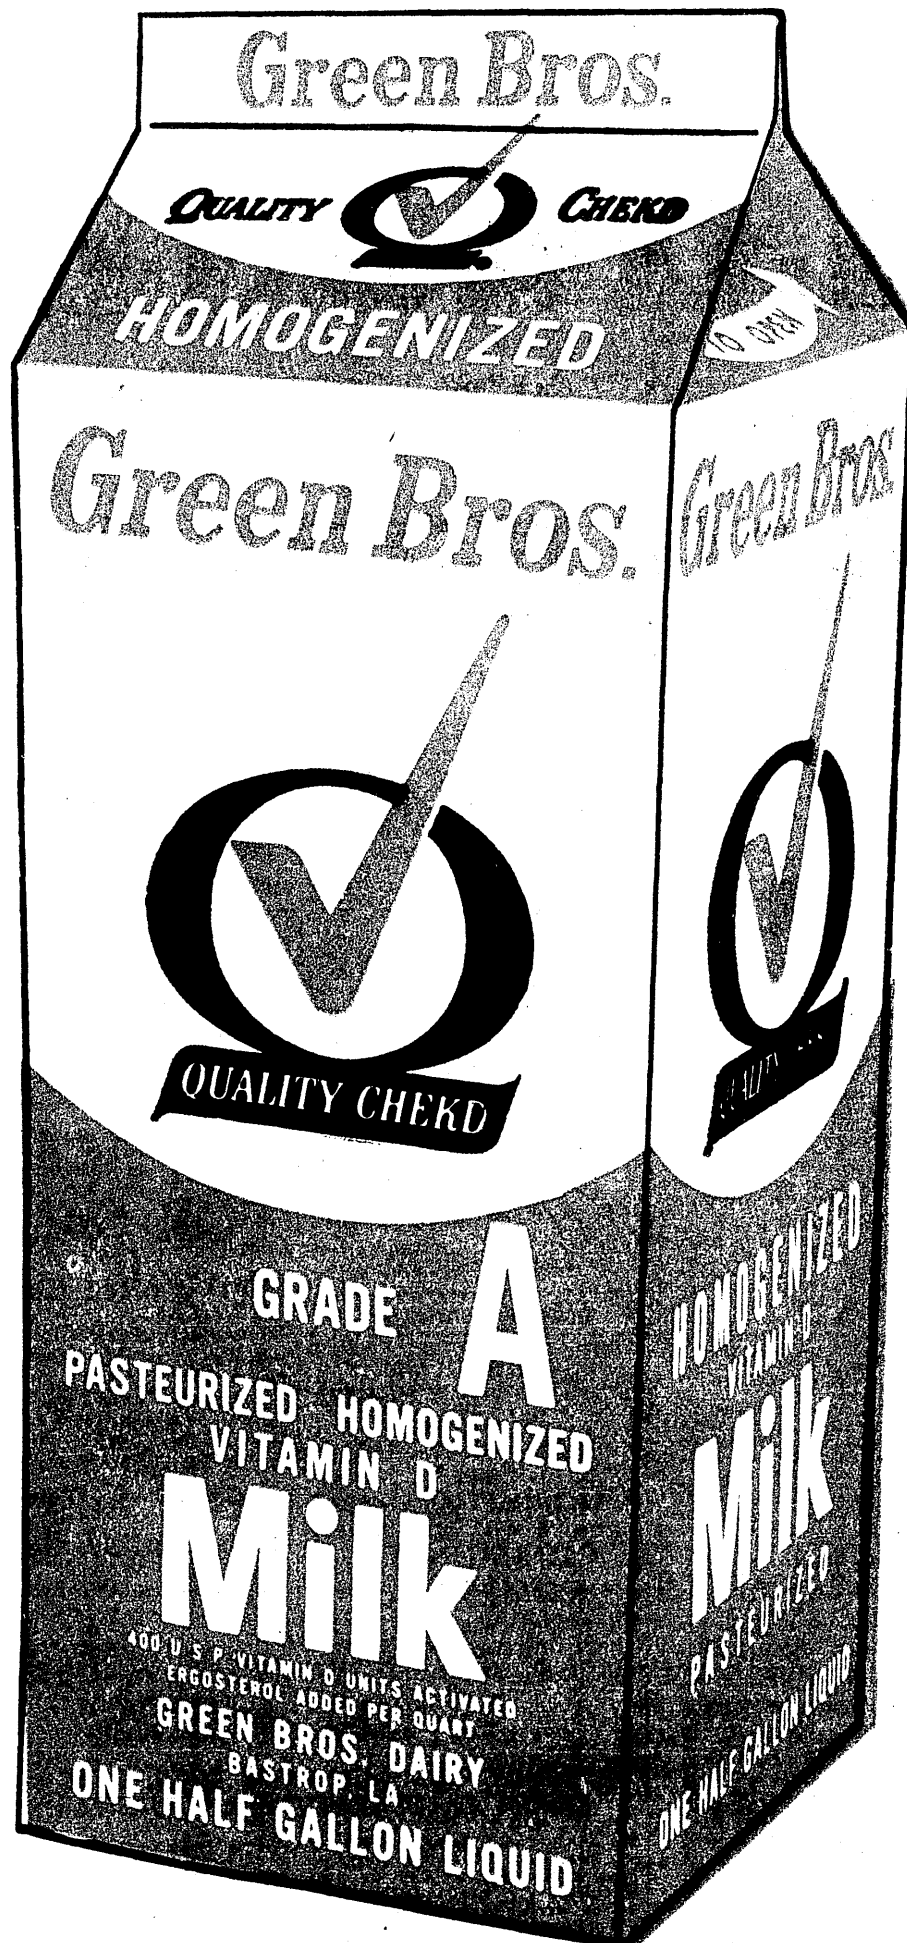

Rules and regulations giving full particulars and entry blanks may be obtained by writing Joe Burns, Box 191, Winnfield, La.

Rules To Elect King

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI)—The nine rulers of Malaya's provinces will meet in the royal palace next Wednesday to elect a king from their number to replace the late Hisamuddin Alam Shah.

Tuan Syed Putra, the 39-year-old Raja of Perlis and acting ruler, was considered almost a certainty for election. The new king will rule for five years.

CONGOLESE LEAVE

Katanga Invasion Called Off Again

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese army invasion of rebel Katanga Province from the north appeared Friday to have been called off for the second time.

A Katanga government spokesman said 300 soldiers who hiked in 36 miles from Kivu Province to a point near the town of Kongolo "seem to have disappeared."

Perhaps they were discouraged by the fact a bridge had been blown up in their path by defense forces. A U. N. Mali detachment kept watch at the chasm.

The first attempt at invasion fizzled last week.

A cease-fire order is supposed to have halted all such activity.

Katanga had continuing problems, however, from an uprising of Baluba tribesmen that has

Passman Says Past Year Was His Best Yet

Congressman Otto E. Passman is home from Washington referring to the past year in Congress as his best yet.

"Congress appropriated $14,484,600 for flood control in our district alone," he said.

Passman added that "next year" he would make a "determined effort" to obtain funds for the proposed 9-foot channel in the Ouachita River.

"Congressional authorization was received this year," he said. "And let me re-emphasize that authorization must be granted before funds can be appropriated."

Passman explained that the received a report on Fifth District flood control expenditures from Major Gen. T. A. Lane, of the Army Corps of Engineers, who is president of the Mississippi River Commission.

According to the general's report, $155,922,600 has been spent for flood control in the Fifth District during the past 14 years.

The estimates for this fiscal year include $12,538,500 for the district's main - river program and $1,946,100 for off - river projects, including flood control for Bayou Macon, Boeuf and Tensas rivers.

In addition to the Ouachita channel project, Passman said he would also attempt to get money for the proposed Lake Providence Port.

Authorization was granted for the Lake Providence Port during the past session.

brought disorders, if not open warfare, to several interior towns.

Unconfirmed reports which reached Elisabethville Friday, said Katanga troops have slain from 20 to 40 of the tribesmen who raided the mining town of Luena and terrorized the mine staff.

U. N. troops have sought to guard refugees and hold down destruction there and in other affected centers. But Premier Moise Tshombe's government declares they're not doing enough.

It handed over a note to the United Nations for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold demanding that the United Nations compensate Europeans — Belgians — for damages suffered in midweek fighting at Manono, a mining town 400 miles north of Elisabethville.

"There is no doubt that in Manono the United Nations prevented the Katanga forces from carrying out their task (of defense) and prevented reinforcements being sent there to take the necessary steps to quell the uprising," the government said.

"The United Nations carries the whole responsibility for the damages suffered by the white population as a result of rioting and looting."

The note included the following points:

1. The arrival of U. N. forces has coincided with disorders in various places in Katanga—notably Jadotville, Kamina, Kabongo, Bukama, Albertville, Kabalo, Manono and Luena.
2. Where these troubles arose, U. N. intervention has been limited to the protection of U. N. barracks and the white population.
3. Orders grounding the Katanga air force—lifted earlier this week—contradicted assurances by Hammarskjold and made it impossible for the Katanga army and police to maintain internal order.

Rules On Scholarship

BATON ROUGE (AP)—An attorney general's opinion Friday ruled a recipient of a Louisiana legislative scholarship must show two years' residence in the state.

The opinion, by Asst. Atty. Gen. John R. Hunter Jr., was written at the request of state Rep. L. D. Napper of Lincoln Parish.

Napper wanted to know whether a out-of-state student can acquire sufficient residence to gain a legislative scholarship.

U.S. OFFICIAL SAYS

Soviets May Try Space Feat Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's space chief has reacted in advance to the "space spectacular" which rumor says the Russians will launch in the near future.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA), said in a statement that a Soviet manned space flight "is not unexpected."

But in response to newsmen's inquiries, he said "your guess is doubtless better than mine as to how they will time such a launch."

Whatever the Russians do, he said, the United States will go ahead with its own man-in-space program, Project Mercury.

There has been speculation here and abroad that the Russians might launch a manned satellite, or some other space pacemaker, to coincide with:

—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit, starting next week to the United Nations in New York.

—The third anniversary on Oct. 4 of Sputnik I, history's first artificial earth satellite.

—The U.S. presidential election or the anniversary of the Red revolution in November.

This country plans to hang a

400 - pound spacecraft in orbit around the moon late this month. It does not, however, expect to put a man in orbit around the earth until some time next year.

Glennan's statement: "Recent reports and speculation in the press point to the probability that the Soviet Union soon may undertake a major space experiment."

"Most of these reports indicate a manned space flight experiment will be attempted."

"Your guess is doubtless better than mine as to how they will time such a launch."

"In any event, a Russian manned experiment is not unexpected. As far back as November, 1957, they had been working hard for at least several years on a space flight system capable of supporting life when they put in orbit the dog Laka."

"In the past few years they have shown they have a booster (rocket) of more than sufficient thrust to accomplish manned experiments."
